Russians and Austro-Germans, Knowing Winter Is Coming on, Want to Make Victory Secure by Taking Railroad—Czar's Troops Are Making Strong Defense.

London, Sept. 11.—The western front, with continuous artillery engagements occasional infantry attacks and the probability that important events, now impending will soon begin, attracts almost as much attention as the eastern battle fields where the Russians and Austro-Germans are contending for the mastery of railways, the possession of which will make the victors more secure when the time comes to go into winter quarters.

For some time yet, however, the east is likely to be the scene of the more sensational actions. The Russians are putting forth a strong offensive on either wing and are making an equally strong defensive on the center where the Austro-Germans, although gaining ground daily and coming closer to the Vilna-Rovno railway, are meeting with increasing opposition.

East village, stream and road proving the scene of a sanguinary engagement. For example, Skidel, town immediately east of Grodno which at last has been captured by the Germans, was the center of a battle lasting several days with alternating success. The Germans attacked the town again and again, massing heavy artillery for the purpose, and according to the Berlin official statement did not succeed in overcoming the Russians until

On the northern end of the southeast of Riga the Russians also on the aggressive, with the result the Germans have made no further progress against the Dyvina river. Some of the British military writers believe that the Austro-Germans have reached the limit of their penetration of Russia, so far as this year is concerned.

The 1,000 Class

ARE YOU FOR WACO OR DO YOU JUST LIVE HERE?

The Waco Morning News will publish on Sunday, October 31st, a newspaper that will reflect credit on any city in the country of 100,000 population. This edition will be known as the Texas Cotton Palace and Brazos Navigation edition. We are undertaking the largest edition ever heretofore published in this section of Texas. This edition will show the many natural resources and the wonderful Industrial, Educational and general development of this city and section and do much to place Waco in the 100,000 class.

Comparatively few of the citizens of this city, and still fewer without the confines of this city and county know wherein Waco and this section excel. The services of statisticians and special writers have been engaged to show the resources, development and possibilities of Waco, the Brazos valley and Central Texas. Thousands of extra copies of this edition will be mailed throughout the United States, giving the publicity to Waco far and near that she deserves. Think what it means to Waco. Think what it means to you to be represented in such an issue of this class

With a knowledge that the business citizenship of Waco is always alive to her interests, we are undertaking this task in the full belief that a hearty co-operation of every loyal business man will be had, including Mr. Advertiser, Mr. Non-Advertiser and every other man and woman interested in the progress and prosperity of his home town and section. Are you for Waco, or do you just live here?

High Explosives Are Being Made from American Products

Washington, Sept. 11.—The government has withdrawn from its contract with the Aetna Explosives company to furnish not less than $200,000 development of the Rittman patent for manufacturing benzene and from petroleum because the "This" ration has been so conservative a commercial basis. Its office of patents, which are in the process of being announced, is also manufacturing process gasoline from petroleum. St. amendment of the success of on a large scale is expected in the near future.

Rittman is a chemist in the bureau of mines, who gave his patents to the government. They have furnished the means for manufacture of immense quantities of high explosives from American products.

Quiet in Dominican Republic.

Santo Domingo, Sept. 11.—President Juan I. Jimenes of the Dominican republic has appointed as minister of the interior Jose Manuel Jimenes, who has been minister of public works and minister of the interior in previous cabinets. Francisco Herrera has been appointed minister of finance.

Quiet prevails in the republic.

Mexican Troops Are Ordered by Carranza to Maintain Order

San Antonio, Sept. 11.—A message from Nuevo Laredo says: "General Alfredo Ricaut, commanding the Carranza forces here, today received orders from Carranza to see that none of his troops in any way interferes with American citizens or soldiers across the border. The order says that the first chief will hold each commander personally responsible for any breach on the part of his men and that if soldiers in the service of the constitutional cause are found guilty of any misconduct they will be given the maximum penalty. General Ricaut was given to understand that the same order had been issued to every Carranza commander along the border."

France Appreciates Hospitals.

Chadde Ford, Pa., Sept. 11.—Jean J. Jusserand, the French ambassador to the United States, expressed the appreciation of his country for the work done by Americans in establishing and maintaining hospital and ambulance service in France during the present war, in an address today at the 138th anniversary of the battle of Brandywine. Sixteen tablets were unveiled in this vicinity, marking the progress of that battle, which led up to the occupation of Philadelphia by the British.

—power

You find—in the 1916 Detroit Electric—an abundance of power—smooth, resistless power that enables you to climb any hill and pull through heavy roads easily and surely.

This power flows from the batteries in a perfectly continuous stream. There are no explosions to jar and tire you and batter the mechanism. You seem fairly to float along over the roads. And because there is no over-powerful engine pounding away at 2000 revolutions per minute as in gas cars the costly bills for repairs, adjustments and replacements which burden many motorists do not trouble the owner of a Detroit Electric. If you have never ridden in the modern Detroit Electric there is a very real pleasure awaiting you on your demonstration trip.

ONLY STOP WILL BE FOR THE ARGUMENTS OR DEMURRERS.

Was to Have Been an Adjournment at Conclusion of Bruhn's Examination.

Special to The News.
Austin, Texas, Sept. 11.—There will be no cessation of the taking of testimony in the brewery suit with the exception of the days set apart for arguments on demurrers, exceptions to the admissibility of questions which Witness Autrey refused to answer.

It had been understood that the hearing would be adjourned at the conclusion of the examination of H. Bruhn, president of the Lone Star Brewery of San Antonio, until after the arguments of demurrers on September 20. It appears that the attorneys were not in accord with this plan and the hearing will be resumed Monday and continue through until the date set for arguing the demurrers.

Advance Freight Rate Hearing.

Special to The News.
Austin, Texas, Sept. 11.—When the advance freight rate hearing is resumed Monday morning, R. Emerson, engineering expert of the railroad commission, will be further cross-examined by the attorneys for the railroads. His cross-examination probably will not be concluded until Tuesday. He will be succeeded on the witness stand by R. D. Parker, chief engineer of the commission, who will give testimony relative to the physical valuations of the Houston and Texas Central and Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railroads. Attorneys for the commission will endeavor to show by Mr. Parker's testimony that the charges set on the physical properties of the railroads by the commission are nearer correct than those presented by the railroads. The hearing will be concluded next week.

Terrell Appoints Auditors.

Austin, Texas, Sept. 11.—Comptroller H. B. Terrell today announced the appointment of two of the three auditors allowed the department by the last legislature. The two appointees are W. R. McDonald of San Antonio and E. L. Crocker of Austin, both being experienced auditors. Mr. Terrell said that the third auditor will not be announced for several days.

cerned and that they must now look to the defense of their present lines. It is reported, in fact, that they are already reconstructing the fortifications of Kovno, which are threatened by the Russian offensive northwest of Vilna. The Russians estimate that the Austro-Germans have 3,500,000 men on their front, twenty-eight times the number in the Russian army. Included in this army are eleven Austrian and nine German cavalry divisions. The Italians, like their western allies, are heavily bombarding their opponents' line with artillery, doubtless in an effort to find a weak spot to attack. The request of the American government for the recall of the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, Dr. Dumba, and the report that other official representatives may be similarly dealt with is creating great interest in England.

Austrian Ambassador to Make Statement

Lenox, Mass., Sept. 11.—Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, ambassador of Austria-Hungary, whose recall has been requested by President Wilson, arrived here today from New York, accompanied by his secretary, Prince Alfred Zu Hohenlohe. Dr. Dumba told newspaper men that he had nothing to say at present regarding the action of the United States government, but that he would give out a statement in two or three days. After luncheon with Mrs. Dumba at "The Poplars," the ambassador and Secretary Hohenlohe drove to the embassy at Lenox avenue, where they were met by Baron Erich Zwiadnick, counsel for the embassy, and Stephen Hedry de Hedry, one of the secretaries. Later the ambassador returned to his residence.

Crusade Started Against Illegal Sales of Opium

William P. Thomason, druggist, was arrested last night and Dr. J. S. Barnes yesterday afternoon by Deputy United States Marshal J. A. Rogers, following the filing of charges against them of violating the federal drug law. The bond for each of them was fixed at $2500 by United States Commissioner A. P. McCormick, pending their examining trials, which will be held Tuesday. Roland Fuller and Robert Lamond were arrested earlier in the week on similar charges. Fuller's bond being fixed at $750 and Lamond's at $500. All the arrests followed investigations by Charles S. Brandt, special federal investigator; C. A. Wood of San Antonio and Dr. Beck, internal revenue officer, they being assisted by City Detectives Craven and Brandon, acting under instructions from Chief Gray McNamara. A large amount of evidence was collected by the city officers, who arrested Lamond and Fuller and turned them over to the federal officers. It is claimed by the authorities that drugs were being sold through the residence districts as well as in the restricted district. All four of the companies charge selling and having in their possession opium, cocaine or their compounds.

URBINA'S LOOT IS RETURNED TO THE VILLA GOVERNMENT

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 11.—A telegram from General Villa dated at Torreon, sent tonight and received by Hipolito Villa, brother of the northern leader at Juarez, denied that either General Villa or General Fierro had been injured on their visit to the ranch of General Tomas Urbina at Nieve, south of Santa Barbara, on the Parras-Jiminez branch railroad, as reported here today.

The loot which the message from General Villa indicated had been returned to the Villa government representatives, it is said, the cash of the banks, citizens and stocks of jewelry stores in the once rich cities of the territory lying between Chihuahua City and Mexico City, together with money received from the sale of looted stores, cattle, hides and sheep.

In all it is said that he had stored more than $5,000,000 in cash at his ranch, which itself is said to be worth $700,000. Huge warehouses on his ranch are said to be filled with looted merchandise.

In August, 1915, he occupied the state capital of Durango and it is said secured a huge sum in cash from the banks there. The money was removed in sacks and hand bags. His soldiers, it was said, showed civilians bags of five dollar gold pieces, explaining that they were new five centavo coins.

The loot was conveyed to Urbina's ranch against the protest of General Villa. Urbina's refusal to submit to

OFFICERS CAPTURE BOX CAR BURGLAR QUARTET AT MART

What is believed by Sheriff S. S. Fleming's department to be one of the best hauls in the history of the office was made yesterday morning when four men were arrested at Mart, charged with systematically robbing box cars on the International & Great Northern tracks. Complaints were filed against the four men, who were brought to Waco, and also against a fifth man, who had not been captured last night, but whom the officers expect to have by morning.

Fuller Williamson, special agent for the railroad, Deputy Sheriff Lee Jenkins and Deputy Wallace Grim went to Mart early yesterday morning. They were assisted by Deputy Sheriff Charlie Beckman and Constable Glen Wright of Mart, and in a short time had all four men under arrest.

Search of the premises of each of the captured men, all of whom worked for the railroad, resulted in the finding of two automobile loads of goods of almost every description imaginable. It is believed by the officers that thefts have been going on for a long time, and enough evidence was collected yesterday to make strong cases against the men arrested. The fifth man is believed to be one of the ring leaders.

NEW METHOD GAS RANGES

Have More Exclusive Patented Gas Saving and Convenience Features Than Any Gas Ranges Made.

Compare the New Method with any other Gas Range at any price and you will be convinced of this more forcibly than I can convey in a printed statement.

New Method Oven Construction.

Study the illustration. See how the flame travels along the bottom flame plate. It does not touch the oven bottom. The heat travels up the sides and down on whatever you are baking. (Follow the Arrows.) The same flame used in baking is used in the broiling.

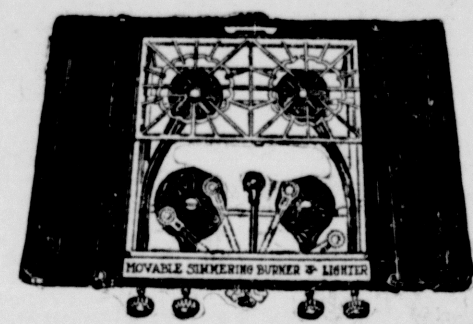

Dividing Oven Doors Enable You to See by Only Partially Opening Doors.

Far Superior to the Impractical Glass Door

Steam and moisture soon obscure the glass oven doors, making it impossible to look inside. Then, too, the possibility of breaking is great.

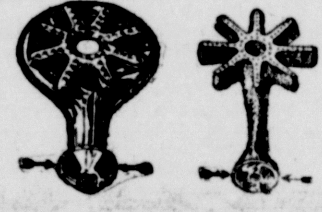

Movable Simmering Burner and Lighter

With this device you can light one burner without matches. There are no pilot lights to be blown out by gusts of wind.

The New Method Consumes 20 to 40 Per Cent Less Gas than any gas range made. This is not a mere advertising statement, but a fact that is easily proven by the accompanying illustration and description of burner.

Enameled Steel Burners

Guaranteed for Five Years.

The cast iron burner found on every other gas range has drilled flame holes, retarding the flow of gas. New Method burners are of steel, enameled inside as well as out, affording an easy flow of gas and enabling 3 1/2 times more air to enter the air mixer than any Cast Iron Burner.

Y. M. B. L. of Texas to Meet in Temple

President W. V. Crawford of the Associated Young Men's Business Organizations of Texas, has called a meeting of the officers and directors of the association to be held in Temple on October 4, the opening day of the Bell county fair. President Crawford yesterday instructed Secretary W. A. Brady of Temple to write all officers and directors who compose the executive board of the association, inviting them to attend the meeting, and also each member organization of the association, requesting that each town send at least one delegate to the meeting. The opening day of the Bell county fair is Commercial Day, and Secretary Brady has promised extensive entertainment for the A. Y. M.

B. O. officers and delegates to attend. Arrangements for Commercial Day at the fair are in charge of the Temple Young Men's Business Association and the Chamber of Commerce.

"Johnny, don't you want to go to Heaven?" asked the teacher, reprovingly.
"Naw!" said Johnny. "There won't be nobody there but me an' God an' George Washington."

BAYLOR UNIVERSITY PROSPECTS ARE GOOD

LARGE ATTENDANCE IS LOOKED FOR AT OPENING OF FALL TERM SEPT. 20.

COURSE IN MODERN DRAMA

Organized Effort Being Made to Find Positions for Boys Wishing to Work Through School.

The Baylor University authorities declare that they are expecting a very favorable opening of the fall term on September 20. They say that the prospects for a large attendance are the best in several years and that in many features this session promises to be the best that Baylor has ever seen. Many new plans are being made for the good of the student body in the way of courses and equipment. The girls' dormitories are being thoroughly repaired during the vacation period, another house had been added to the equipment of the Co-Operative Home so that it can accommodate twice as many students as formerly, and the management of the boys' dormitories report that never so early in the season have there been so many rooms already reserved or taken by the men. Many parents are expected to arrive for the opening of the school and board for their children, and other families are trying to make their plans for moving to Waco in order to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the university.

Among the changes in courses for the fall term is one of especial interest to Waco people who are interested in the drama. Usually a course is offered in the fall term in the drama of Shakespeare, but inasmuch as 1916 is the tercentenary of the death of Shakespeare, it has been decided to postpone the work of Shakespeare until the spring term in order that the Shakespeare class may have a part in the elaborate exercises which are being planned all over Texas as well as among the English-speaking people. The head of the English department is arranging to have the Baylor celebration under the auspices of the Shakespeare class. To fill the place left vacant by the Shakespeare course it has been decided to offer a course in contemporary drama.

This is the first time such a course has been offered and it will deal more or less exhaustively with works of the most noted European and American dramatists, namely, Barrie, Pinero, Jones, Brieux, Hervieu, D'Annunzio, Maeterlinck, Hauptmann, Sudermann, Bjornson, Strindberg, Maeterlinck, Kitch, Moody and others. The work will largely be a reading and lecture course and will offer a rather keen insight into the motives and technique of modern drama. Especially will be given to those who are conceded to be the greatest dramatist the world has produced since Shakespeare.

Greek Play Planned.
The English department introduced an innovation last year when it celebrated Browning's birthday by the production of one of his plays. This year the department is planning a more ambitious compliment of its friends and will probably give Browning's unsurpassed translation of the Agamemnon by Aeschylus. The presentation of the Greek play in costume with the weird but attractive musical accompaniment will all be rendered by students of the English department. The giving of this Greek play will probably be the first performance of Greek drama ever given in Texas. A temporary theatre will be erected and the performance will be given by the students of the English department.

For the first time in its history the university is putting forth an organized effort to obtain places for boys who wish to work their way or to obtain their board for services rendered by Aeschylus. A man has been employed who is as nearly as possible canvassing the town, and obtaining the names of persons who wish a student to do such work during the coming year. As soon as such students arrive they will then be directed to places where they can likely find work. Many such places have already been found, but it is probable that there are a hundred or more who have applied for such positions for whom places have not been found. Persons who know of places of this sort are asked to report them to Mr. Frazier, chairman of the Y. M. B. L. committee, at the Baylor Book Concern, 525 either phone.

The Erisopians and R. C. B. Literary Societies are making extensive improvements in their society hall for the opening of the fall session. A committee from the R. C. B. alumni composed of Mrs. B. C. Reynolds, Mrs. Mordis Falkner and Mrs. A. J. Armstrong, are acting in conjunction with a student entirely new plan of these societies is to place in their hall copies of a large number of famous paintings. Each summer when Dr. Armstrong of the English department conducts a party to Europe these societies will Isaacks Publicity Agent.

Since C. A. Benson, who has been elected as the editor of the Literary Digest, is coming here, with her in school, President Isaacks of the Student Association, has arranged with Messrs. Goddard and Stoddard to get out the first issue after which the student body will fill the vacancies by an election. The Student Association will have quite a large part in the university affairs this year. Frank Soape, the chairman of the executive committee, will be here on September 13, and the secretary, Miss Warren, will come Thursday. President Isaacks of the association has been appointed as the official publicity agent of the university for the coming year, and he will be the Baylor representative to the local press.

The County Teachers' Institute, which closed Friday, expressed its appreciation to the university for the use of Carroll Chapel and for several special features in the program. A rendition of Prof. Evans' original composition, "The Little Waco Maid," by two little girls with Miss Quay at the piano, and a talk on famous Baylor students by Miss Lillian Martin were among these features. Each also took home as a souvenir one of the copies of the Baylor song and some of the old favorites which have been used in the story hour this summer. The Baylor song which has remained up to date without publication with the music, is about ready to go to press and hereafter it will be possible for every graduate to have his own copy of The Green and Gold with music.

Baylor Personals.
Miss Dorothy Scarborough of the English department, who is doing a year's work in Columbia university, New York, writes that she has passed a part of the preliminary examinations for the Ph. D. degree which she intends to take in June, 1916.

Baylor friends received Friday the announcement of the engagement of Joseph McDonald of Waco to Miss Leola South, also of Waco, a member of the class of 1915. Already James E. Morrow, J. Q. Adams and Robert Morris of the same class have been married this summer, so that there seems to be no truth in the report that higher education makes against marriage.

Fred E. Eggert of the fine arts department, who has been spending his vacation in New York, will return this week for his work in Baylor. He will have the organ at the Episcopal church again this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. McElhannon of the English department have returned from Bridgeton, where they have taken their holiday trip during the last six weeks.

Dr. Frederick Eby of the department of education of the University of Texas, spent the day in Waco recently with the parents of his wife, and Mrs. A. H. Newman of the Baylor university faculty. He had been in Marlin at the State Y. M. C. A. conference. His daughter, Miss Mary Eby, will spend the winter with her grandparents here and attend Waco high school.

Misses Lula Pace and Kate Griffith of the Baylor faculty have been taking a short vacation in Temple. There they were met by Dr. Frazier, sister, Miss Anna Pace, of New York City. Miss Pace has a very responsible position there as the reader of all the books submitted for publication to the Dillingham Publishing company, and no book is published by them without her recommendation.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the approaching marriage of Dr. Carl Lovelace, president of the alumni association, to Miss Lucile Hill, a Baylor graduate in the city.

Miss Fern Thurman, who rendered such a magnificent graduation recital in voice at Baylor this spring, will start soon on a trip to Kentucky to visit relatives.

Dr. H. L. Hargrove, former head of the Baylor department of English, is very enthusiastic over his work in the government schools in China where he is now entering upon his fourth year.

President Neff of the board of trustees has returned from his vacation on the Pacific slope.

Miss Gertrude Brandes, assistant librarian, has gone to her home for a short vacation.

The music at the Temple Rodeo Show will be furnished this year largely by Baylor people. Among those who will be there are Prof. J. M. Evans, Miss Juanita Smith and J. D. Isaacks. Professor Evans also has charge of the choir of the First Baptist church, and Mr. Isaacks will sing with the choir of St. Paul's.

Early Busby will sing tenor in the Episcopal choir also. Miss Lillian Martin of the department of education will return soon to the Collier home on Speight street, where she will be located for the regular term. The Colliers have spent the summer in Munford.

Mrs. Stillwell, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. William P. Lewis, of South Seventh street, has joined the summer colony at Tusand Island, where she will spend a month in her summer cottage.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Wright have returned from New York, where he has been doing advanced research work in the Columbia University Graduate school during the past year. They will be located in their home on Eighth and James streets, which they have lately remodelled extensively.

Miss Ruby Boyd, assistant registrar, has returned from her vacation to take up work in the office again.

Mrs. T. H. Claypool, superintendent of Brooks and Burleson Halls, is taking her vacation in Dallas, and the halls are closed for repairs which are being made under the direction of Miss Lillian Martin.

Professor Guittard and his family are taking their vacation in Shiner, Texas, and will return to Waco on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. J. W. Harrell has quite recently resigned as the president of the Round Table, and the members meet soon to elect her successor.

Professor and Mrs. J. M. Evans have moved to the Marshall residence at 719 Speight street where they will be located for the winter with Rev. C. D. Daniels and family.

Prof. John de Heck of the music faculty will be here about Monday, according to a card received from him in New York City, where he has spent the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Spencer of the chemistry department, leave this week for New Haven where Professor Spencer will spend the year in study in the Graduate School of Yale university. They have had charge of the Girls Co-Operative Home on Speight street, which will be this year under the supervision of Professor and Mrs. J. E. Hawkins.

West to Connect Up Streets With Good Roads System
West, Tex., Sept. 11.—Showing a desire to connect up the city streets with the good roads system the Y. M. B. L. directors acting in co-operation with the city officials have raised sufficient funds to gravel the low places between the Tours' pike and the Main street of West, which is a continuation of the Dallas road. Business men contributed over a hundred dollars in a few hours as part payment on the graveling. Joe Urbanovsky, Will Steele and W. Roy Christian composed a committee to handle the matter in behalf of the local Y. M. B. L.

Notice to Subscribers.
Delivery routes in the City of Waco are in the hands of independent carriers, who buy their papers at wholesale prices. Subscriptions are due them, not the Waco Morning News. They are under heavy bond, not only to give the best delivery service, but to pay for their papers each month. Their remuneration is the difference between the wholesale price and the retail price which they receive from subscribers. This margin of profit is such that they cannot afford to extend credit, except month by month. They are not required, and they are advised against, delivering the paper to anyone who does not pay in accordance with the above subscription terms. These carriers are all earnest, hard working men and they will appreciate any courtesy shown them.

The Morning News should be delivered throughout the city of Waco by 6:30 a. m., and subscribers failing to receive their paper at that time will confer a favor by phoning the Circulation Department, both phone 1132, and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of the Morning News will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the management.

THE COTTON SITUATION.

There is no occasion for either cotton farmers or Southern business men to be pessimistic over the outlook for the 1915 cotton crop. As this is written cotton is selling at interior markets in Texas close around 10c a pound and the market is distinctly bullish in tone.

Private enterprise and governmental aid have made it unnecessary for the farmer to "dump" his crop. An ample warehouse system and bank loans at 6 per cent enable the growers of cotton to feed the market without glutting it.

Reduced acreage, unseasonable planting weather, drouth, storms and the boll weevil have reduced the crop and the most reliable estimates place the American crop below the 12,000,000 mark.

A small crop does not mean a smaller cash return to the growers, as the thoughtless might conclude. It is a fact established by official figures that a small crop of cotton brings more dollars to the South than a large crop. A 14,000,000-bale crop sells for more than a 16,000,000-bale crop and a 12,000,000-bale crop sells for more than a 14,000,000-bale crop. This is an economic paradox, but it is true. Its significance at this time lies in the encouragement it gives to business men to ready for brisk business this fall and winter.

There is nothing in the situation to justify fear that the market will break under the heavy selling now going on. The warehouse system and low interest rates on cotton loans are a guaranty against such a contingency.

So long as cotton is bringing a price approximating 10c a pound farmers are wisely selling enough to pay their pressing obligations. Ten cents a pound covers the cost of production and yields a small profit to the grower. The farmer who owes no debts and who thinks the price will advance later in the season is fully justified in holding his crop. We hope this class of farmers will store at least a portion of their crop and thus relieve the pressure of heavy selling at this time. The farmer who owes debts should sell enough to discharge his obligations and use his own judgment as to holding the balance.

If anything like a majority of farmers will pursue the course indicated above, a stable market at fair prices is assured for the entire crop.

The fact that only a small amount of cotton is being stored in warehouses at this time and that there are few calls for cotton loans do not minimize the importance of these two factors. The fact that warehouse facilities are at hand and that cheap money is available for loans on cotton have done much to advance the price to present levels and is a guaranty against a disastrous break in the market. In a sense these factors operate as an insurance policy against a price below the cost of production.

If only a few thousand bales are stored in warehouses this season and if only a few thousands of dollars are loaned on cotton, we should none the less appreciate the value of these two factors, for if we had no warehouses and farmers could not get cheap money the price of cotton would not be what it is today.

For the first time in history the South is able to market its cotton without "dumping" it. The independent, debt-free farmer can sell or hold as he chooses. The farmer who has debts to pay can sell enough of his crop to pay his obligations and use his judgment about selling the balance.

So, notwithstanding wars, droughts, storms and the boll weevil, the cotton crop is going to bring a larger number of dollars into the South this year than the big crop of last year brought, and that means the payment of debts and largely increased buying power of Southern farmers.

In a word, prosperity is at hand for all who have the wisdom to understand and the courage to take advantage of the situation as it now is and as it will shortly be.

LABOR AND THE WAR.

William G. Shepherd, London correspondent of the United Press, sends to this country a report of an interview with George Lansbury, a British labor leader, which throws an interesting light on cable reports of labor troubles in Great Britain.

According to this labor leader, British union men in all lines have made this offer to their employers: "We will work for pre-war wages if you will sell what we produce at pre-war prices."

The British manufacturers have not accepted. Instead they have challenged the British workmen by raising prices and refusing to raise wages.

There is deep significance in this labor leader's reply to the question, "Are the British unionists in favor of helping France?"

"They don't understand the French situation," replied Mr. Lansbury. "You know this is the first war in the history of the world in which the workmen of Europe have been able to read and write. At the time of the Fashoda incident the English newspapers and statesmen attacked the French mercilessly and the workmen read those attacks and remember them. A few years ago the Kaiser came to England and the newspapers lauded him to the skies. The laboring men of England read this praise and they haven't forgotten it. They mistrust much that they read now because they have memories. The British workman is no longer the unreasoning clod that he was a century ago, but there are some classes in England who do not realize this fact."

As to the final outcome of the war, Mr. Lansbury said: "British union men know that Germany is not going to be crushed; they know that England is not going to be crushed; they believe that a newer and better civilization with more liberty for the lower classes of all the countries concerned is going to grow out of this war."

There is much good sense in what this British labor leader says. In all history the masses have fought the battles while a few manufacturers and contractors have reaped enormous profits. To say as much is not an impeachment of the patriotism and the courage of the so-called classes. In other days the passion and excitement of the moment enabled the selfish profit-takers to escape popular notice during a war. In these later days, when the masses are better educated and have abler leaders, there can be no such concealment.

AN UNJUST LAW.

The election trials at Corpus Christi have brought out an illustration of the workings of one of the most unjust and outrageous laws that has ever been placed on the statute books of any state, says the San Antonio Light. This is the law which permits foreigners to vote in Texas upon their declaration of intention to become American citizens.

One witness at Corpus Christi testified that he had declared his intention of becoming a citizen in 1877, and had been voting ever since, but had never received his citizenship papers. This man has been voting in Texas for thirty-eight years, and he never should have been allowed to vote at all.

A clean, upright, educated American boy cannot acquire the right to vote until after 21 years. A foreigner, who is in all things the opposite of this boy, can acquire it in fifteen minutes, and, judging by the testimony of this man at Corpus Christi, vote forever.

It is much to be doubted if this man, who testified at Corpus Christi that he had been voting for thirty-eight years without becoming a citizen of the United States, ever had the legal right to cast a vote, despite the fact that the state law gives him that right. To cast a vote is the attribute of citizenship, and none but citizens have the right of citizenship. The probability is that, if the question was passed upon by the United States supreme court, it would declare that no man not a citizen of the United States had a right to cast a vote in the United States. It is a clear violation of the constitution of the United States to give the rights of citizens to men who are not citizens.

For her own good, Texas should repeal a law that works such a manifest injustice upon the native American.

WHAT OF MEXICO?

While we have been led to expect that Carranza would refuse to join in the mediation proceedings suggested by the Pan-American conference, we were scarcely prepared for the resolute, almost defiant tone of his answer which was given to the public Friday. His refusal to discuss peace terms with other factions in Mexico is absolute and appears to be final. His expressed willingness to confer with the members of the Pan-American conference is limited to the international aspects of the situation and is plainly a bid for recognition by the United States government.

The Pan-American conference will meet again this week and the result of its deliberations will be awaited with interest. With Carranza in possession of a large part of Mexico, it would be idle to seek peace through a conference of the other Mexican leaders unless the governments of the United States and South America are prepared to use force to establish a fusion government. To date the South American diplomats have been careful to have it known that they are not committed to a policy of armed intervention and it is extremely doubtful that their governments will ever join in a military movement to restore peace and order in Mexico. The utmost that may be expected of them will be to give passive assent to intervention by the United States. While the strengthening of military forces along the border and a firmer policy in dealing with border disorders indicates that President Wilson is losing patience with the revolutionary chief, nothing has come from the white house which indicates that the president has wholly abandoned his watchful waiting policy.

It is an open secret that the administration discredits Carranza and regards him as not only incapable of restoring peace in Mexico but as being distinctly anti-American in sentiment. The Villa army appears to be disintegrating and breaking up into marauding bands. This result seems to flow from lack of money and ammunition rather than from the superior prowess of the Carranza army.

If the Pan-American conference can be brought to agree with President Wilson that Carranza is incapable of restoring peace, intervention by the United States will, in our opinion, become imminent.

EUROPEAN WAR LOANS.

It is too early to forecast the outcome of negotiations now in progress for a half-billion dollar American loan to England and France, but it is already in evidence that American bankers with their usual caution are looking closely into the character of securities offered. Under ordinary circumstances the credit of these governments in the past has been unlimited, but the magnitude of the great war and the uncertainty as to when and how it will end has raised doubts in the minds of men accustomed to looking far into the future.

The European war is the most expensive in all history and the cost to date has been enormous. If it continues one or two years longer the debts of the nations involved may be so stupendous as to be beyond the ability of these nations to pay. Every power now at war was deeply in debt when the war began and taxes were very heavy. The national debts have gone on increasing through the years, it not being the policy of any European government to pay its funded debt except by the issue of new securities. A German socialist paper stated recently that the entire income of the empire before the war would be required to pay the interest on the public debt at this time. The same is doubtless true of all the other nations involved.

While the financial needs of the warring nations are unlimited, the tax-paying power of the people is limited and when that limit is exceeded the result is national decay or revolution. For several months financial writers in the United States have been discussing the probability of international bankruptcy proceedings following the war and peace advocates are openly prophesying that the people will after a few years repudiate the war debts now being piled up and these advocates of universal peace are looking to this contingency to destroy for all time the power of nations to borrow huge sums for war-making purposes.

It is evident that American bankers have some such possibilities in mind since they are insisting on the borrowing governments putting up American securities as collateral for the loans. English and French investors hold American securities in an amount many times the size of the loan wanted, but they are declining to place these securities at the disposal of their governments, which indicates that they, also, are looking with apprehension to conditions in their own countries following the war.

TEXAS TELEPHONE CO. IS READY TO BUILD

NEW THREE-STORY FIREPROOF BUILDING WILL BE ERECTED ON NORTH NINTH ST.

WORK TO COMMENCE AT ONCE

Kitchen and Dining Room for Women Employees a Feature—Public Thanked for Patience.

Work will be commenced on the new fire proof building of the Texas Telephone company as soon as the site can be cleared; the switchboard for the consolidated telephone exchange has been bought, and the merger of Waco's two telephone exchanges is to proceed without delay. This is the announcement made by the telephone company last night.

The new building will be located on North Ninth street, between Austin and Washington streets. The telephone company closed the deal for the site yesterday. The company has acquired a frontage of 62½ feet on the east side of North Ninth, directly north of and adjoining the alley, with a depth of 150 feet on the alley. One whole lot and parts of two others were bought to obtain the required space. The site was secured from John F. Rowe, the 12½ feet frontage adjoining on the north was purchased from W. J. Geisler, and the rear of Dr. W. F. Thompson's place which fronts on Washington street, was acquired to obtain the desired depth. Manchester & Ainsworth handled the deal, the total consideration being $12,400, which was paid in cash.

The new building will be of concrete, fire proof construction, three stories and full basement, 55 feet wide and 120 feet long, and so constructed that additional stories may be added when desired. The design will be pleasing, and the building will be modern in every respect. A roof garden for the benefit of the women employees of the telephone company is a novel feature in the plans. The building will be faced with tapestry brick. It will be set next to the alley, leaving a permanent space of 7½ feet on the alley for light and ventilation. The cost of the building will be $75,000 to $80,000. The plans are being prepared by Ross & Cason.

Arrangement of Building.
The telephone building will be occupied exclusively by the Texas Telephone company, with the exception of the space reserved for the Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone company, for that company's long distance switchboard and apparatus. The basement will contain the electrical power apparatus, heating plants, boiler shop, storage for parts and small apparatus, and old records, and various other service rooms. The first floor will accommodate the local and general offices of the company, the clerical and accounting departments, the office of the local manager and other local departments. A part of the second floor is given over to the terminal frames, relay racks, and batteries and other electrical equipment, with the offices of the wire chief and his assistants; the rest of this floor—about half of the space—will contain the operating rooms, locker rooms, dining room, kitchen and other conveniences for the comfort and convenience of the company's women employees. From these quarters a private stairway, for only by the operators, will lead to the third floor, all of which is to be used for the operating room. This big room, 120 feet long, will contain the main switchboard and long distance switchboard of the Texas Telephone company, and the Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone company. From the operating room a stairway will lead to the roof garden.

Throughout the planning of the new building, the telephone company has given special attention to the arrangements for the benefit and convenience of its women employees in both the operating and the clerical departments. The rest rooms on the second floor will be large, with good lighting and ventilation, and will be comfortably and attractively decorated and furnished and arranged in all ways possible to add to the comfort of the employees.

Kitchen and Dining Room.

A completely equipped kitchen and a dining room, will be a part of this floor. These quarters will all be under the supervision of a competent person, and the company will bear the use of the women employees alone, excepting on special occasions, as it is planned that in the summer it can be used for assemblies and meetings of the various departments and of the telephone society.

Officials of the telephone company state that the operating room, on the top floor, will be the best lighted and best ventilated room of its kind in the south. Similar to the operating room, the size of the entire building was changed from the original plans, the first idea being to erect a building with four stories and basement, 40 feet wide and 80 feet long. When later, it was found that this would necessitate placing the big switchboard along both sides and across the end of the operating room, it was decided to make the building three stories and to add fifteen feet to the width and 40 feet to the length of the building, allowing the placing of the main switchboard entirely along the north wall of the room, giving light and air from large windows on one side and both ends and from small windows on the north side above the switchboard.

The new main or "local" switchboard for the consolidated exchange, replacing the Texas board in use at present, has been purchased from the Garford Manufacturing company of Elyria, Ohio, where it is now being built. This part of the new equipment represents an investment of approximately $60,000. The board, when set up in the operating room, will be about 100 feet long and will have an ultimate capacity for 9,600 telephones, with space left for additional sections when required. The switchboard will fill three freight cars. It will be shipped to Waco as soon as completed, which will be about the first of January, and the work of installation will begin at once, or as soon as the building is ready. The other necessary electrical equipment for the exchange, all of which will be new apparatus, has been bought direct from the respective manufacturers and will be shipped as soon as completed.

Large List of Contestants in Morning News Contest

First Standings Will Be Published in Next Sunday's Issue—Voting Ballot Appears on This Page.

The Morning News popular voting contest has opened with much enthusiasm and a large list of contestants. The names of all those who have entered are published on this page today. Each contestant starts off with 1,000 votes, as the nomination blank entitles each one to an even thousand.

District one seems to be the most popular district as there have been more entries from the city of Waco than from either of the two outside districts.

Very little work has been done by the contestants as yet, but the coming week will bring forth considerable activity in all sections. On next Sunday the first standing of the candidates will be published showing the number of votes each contestant has obtained. After next Sunday the standing of the candidates will be published three times each week until the close of the contest.

On this page today appears the first voting ballot. This ballot is good for five votes, and the contestants and their friends can clip out as many ballots as they desire, the only stipulation is that these ballots be cast at the Morning News office before the expiration date printed thereon. Votes cannot be transferred, bought or sold. Two or more contestants can not combine their votes. No employee of the Morning News can work as a candidate in this contest. Those who wish through subscriptions to the paper have no expiration date and may be voted at any time during the contest or held in reserve until the last day if so desired. Those who wish their votes cast in next Sunday's paper must have them reach the News office not later than next Friday otherwise they will not be published until the next contest.

Names of ladies and gentlemen who have been nominated in the Morning News voting contest:

Seventy-Second Milestone Is Passed By Sam Sanger

SAM SANGER, HEAD OF SANGER BROTHERS IN WACO, WHO WAS 72 YEARS OLD YESTERDAY.

The air in Sam Sanger's office in the big Sanger Bros' store was still fragrant with the scent of roses yesterday afternoon when a representative of the Morning News called to congratulate him upon his seventy-second birthday. Dozens of the beautiful blossoms supported by long stems thrust into vases remained of the monster bunch that had been placed upon his desk early yesterday morning by department heads of the store. These vases greeted Mr. Sanger upon his arrival yesterday morning for his usual day's work as one of the first remembrances of another anniversary. The larger portion of the bunch, it was said, had been sent home earlier in the day, where their fragrance and sentiment were shared by the family.

Sam Sanger was 72 years old yesterday. His white hair and his slower step are the only marks that age has left upon him. His strong, ruddy face, with its lines of kindness, his undiminished energy, his still quickening business judgment are not the attributes ordinarily associated with age.

On his seventy-second birthday, Mr. Sanger was in unusually fine health, rising early as has always been his custom, and coming early to his office for his usual active day's work. Here it was that the remembrances of his employees were waiting for him. The monster bunch of roses, a basket of fruit, a box of cigars, all appealing to tastes of their employer well known to them, were some of the gifts of the employees of the store. During the day flowers and remembrances of other kinds were received at the home, sent by numbers of Mr. Sanger's friends in the city and out of the city. All during the day yesterday Mr. Sanger's work was interrupted by callers who wished to extend their felicitations.

Mr. Sanger radiated a genial good humor that was infectious yesterday when he was asked what impression was uppermost after his seventy-two years.

"I have taken the motto which Thomas Dixon framed to hang over his mantelpiece," he replied, "which was: 'I am an old man; I have had a great many troubles, most of which I never had.'"

This is Mr. Sanger's philosophy—the invaluable don't-dodge-until-you-are-hit policy which has brought him through seventy-two years of life with faculties unimpaired and ability to enjoy life still undiminished. Illustrating further his genius for accepting limitations without fretting or straining against them, saying nervous energy that is invaluable, the story is told of his boyhood school days in Wurzburg, Germany. The boy who was destined to become one of the greatest merchants of a great state met a schoolmate in the fruit market in Wurzburg.

"Lend me a groschen," he asked the schoolmate.

"What do you want with a groschen?" rejoined the other boy.

"I want to buy me some fruit," he replied.

"But I have no groschen," the schoolmate answered.

"Then I do not get the fruit," he concluded the young philosopher.

It was the visitor's turn to answer questions, then. Mr. Sanger made a few kindly inquiries as to the newspaper man's work, how long he had been in the city, exhibiting the interest in others that has made him one of the best beloved and most easily approached big men of the state.

"I hope I will see you twenty-five years from now," was the way Mr. Sanger dismissed his visitor.

"And I hope so, too," was the sincere response of the caller.

Sam Sanger was born in Oberbreit, which is in the province of Franconia, a part of the kingdom of Bavaria, a sub-division of the German empire, on September 11, 1843. He attended school at Wurzburg, Germany, studying for the ministry. In 1865 he went to Berlin to complete his studies at the Rabbinical Seminary and University.

An old schoolmate, who since came to America, is authority for the statement that Mr. Sanger was one of the best students of the school and university.

Mr. Sanger was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth, and was compelled to work his way through school. He came to the United States at the age of 23, becoming a teacher in a Hebrew school in Cincinnati, where he was married the same year.

The next year he went to Philadelphia, where he taught in a German-Hebrew school, and was also rabbi of a small congregation.

In 1872 he opened a store in New York, and early in 1873 decided to cast his fortunes within the new empire that was developing on the shores of the Gulf of Mexico.

Coming to Texas, Mr. Sanger took a ce- commerce, which in those days required weeks to make the trip. It was on the fourth day of March, 1873, that he arrived in Waco, and the same day saw the opening of the original Sanger store on South Third street.

March 4, 1873 was marked by other occurrences besides the opening of the Sanger store which has since grown to be the great establishment which occupies a city block in the heart of the city at Fourth and Austin streets.

On that day Ulysses S. Grant was inaugurated president for the second time, and the Brazos river froze over for perhaps the only time in its history. E. J. Davis, the carpet-bag governor, was at that time ruling the state of Texas through his hated constabulary.

How the Sanger store has developed from the one little 20-foot store with three clerks to the present great establishment is a part of Texas mercantile history. The most important factor in this development has been the energy, the honesty, the public spiritedness of its founder, Sam Sanger, who yesterday received Waco's congratulations on his seventy-second birthday.

Anti-vice Crusade to Start at Marlin With Mass Meeting

Special to The News.
Marlin, Texas, Sept. 11.—Tom Bartlett, county attorney of Falls county, is announced to be the principal speaker at the men's mass meeting to be held in the Methodist church tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, when Rev. W. R. Hall, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will preside. Following the county attorney, Rev. H. M. Whaling, pastor of the Methodist church, will speak, giving his experience in other "clean-up" campaigns, and relating his experience during the last week with the impressions gained while attending the "vag" trials in Justice Cobb's court. The Baptist pastor, Rev. C. G. Hall, will make an address exhorting the men of Marlin to rise up and throw out the evil that the preachers say in sapping the moral life blood from the young of this and other cities.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

John S. Patterson, commissioner, yesterday brought suit against S. K. Kirschman for debt in the Nineteenth district court.

The regular meeting of the city water commission will be held tomorrow night at the waterworks office, on Washington street.

The educational committee of the Ad club will meet Thursday night in the cafe of the Hotel Waco to outline the program for the next meeting of the club.

While getting some hardware off of a shelf yesterday afternoon, L. J. Drueke fell at the Herrick Hardware store, his right leg being broken by the fall.

Judgment for the plaintiff was entered yesterday in the case of S. S. Jennings vs. John E. Stack by Judge Tom L. McCullough in the Nineteenth district court.

The Central Texas Exchange National bank brought suit against I. Rude and others in the Seventy-fourth district court for rent amounting to $1.25.

Twenty-five marriage licenses were issued yesterday by County Clerk John W. Baker and Deputy Clerk Wallace, the largest number for one day in several months.

A false alarm turned in from the box at Fourth and Webster streets was responded to by a part of the fire department's equipment about 10 o'clock last night.

Deputy United States Marshal J. A. Rogers arrested M. K. Ross near Thornton on a charge of breaking into the postoffice at Toluca, Cal. He will have his examining trial this week.

Justice J. J. Padgett yesterday bound Charles Thomas, negro, over to the grand jury on a charge of theft of a horse, harness and buggy. He was captured at Belton and brought back to Waco through Sheriff S. S. Fleming and Deputy Lee Jenkins.

Suits for $20,000 damages were brought against the Kees railway coach by Mrs. E. J. Pace, widow, and Truel Pace et al, children of S. M. Pace, who was killed while working in the Katy yards here, July 12, last.

Mrs. J. G. Wren has been secured as soloist by the Central Christian church and will sing at the church this morning and evening. Mrs. Wren is one of the best known soloists in the city, her voice being of extraordinarily beautiful quality.

F. B. Debolt was bound over to the grand jury on four charges of forgery yesterday by Justice Giles P. Lester, and bond being fixed at $250 in each case. Debolt is the man who was caught by Officer Frank Blair a few nights ago a few minutes after he had passed a worthless check.

E. N. Whitehead was arrested last night by City Detective Grayson and Brandon and placed in the city jail. A complaint has been filed in justice court charging Whitehead with embezzlement from the L. E. Price company, by whom he was employed as a rug salesman.

Last night was the busiest in many months around the police station, exceeding in number of arrests any Saturday night since last winter. The larger number of arrests were for drunkenness, a number for fighting, and only a few for serious offenses. These latter included embezzlement, reckless driving and aggravated assault.

Four arrests were made last night by city police of persons charged with reckless driving, the announcement being made by police that speeding on the city streets must be stopped. Two men were arrested at Sixth and Austin at 7 o'clock last night by Patrolman Mallard, and two more were gathered in at Fifth and Austin by Patrolman Tennen at 7:35 last night.

A regular weekly meeting of the board of directors of the Cotton Palace association will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms tomorrow night. General affairs of the exposition will be discussed, and the meeting will be presided over by John F. Wright, acting president, in the absence of President Asher Sanger. The board of directors will meet each week until the opening of the exposition, Nov. 6.

MISS LYTLE M'NEESE IS LEADING IN LIST IN MERCHANT CONTEST

The second week of the big voting contest being conducted by local firms ended last night with Miss Lytle McNeese leading by a small margin over Miss Edith Faugnet, who had held first place for several days past. Miss McNeese had 69,960 votes to her credit when the count was made at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, while Miss Faugnet's vote totaled 59,285. In the out-of-town district Miss Beadle Gillespie of Rosebud now holds first place with a total vote of 17,740, and Miss Eleanor Bremer of Lorena has the second highest vote, 15,275.

About 250 contestants are now entered in the race for the twelve handsome prizes which are offered. These prizes include two Buick five-passenger touring cars, two beautiful pianos and other valuable presents, which are to be awarded to the winners just after Christmas. Many of the contestants have had cards, circulars and other advertising matter printed and distributed to assist them in their campaign for votes. All of the participants, in fact, seem to be going after the prizes with the determination to either win or at least let "the other fellow know that there has been an intensely exciting race."

The firms that are engaged in conducting the contest all report that it is a very effective means of securing business, and of bringing out-of-town trade to Waco. Many business men who have been watching the progress of the contest declare that it is one of the biggest advertising propositions ever undertaken by the business men of any city in Texas, and it is predicted that the public interest in it, now seemingly at fever heat, will continue to increase as the race for the prizes continues.

The complete report of the standing of all contestants will be found on another page of this paper today.

NAVIGATION BOARD MEETING TUESDAY TO BE WELL ATTENDED

Responses received yesterday to telegrams sent out by Secretary C. W. Payne of the navigation executive board indicated that there will be a large attendance at the meeting of representatives of the Brazos valley towns which will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms here Tuesday night. L. M. Hewitt, chairman of the mass meeting at Navasota, and Col. J. Felton Lane, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce at Hearne, were among those who wired Mr. Payne yesterday that they would attend the meeting here Tuesday night.

Telegrams yesterday also acknowledged receipt of the questionnaire as to damage wrought in the Brazos valley by floods, eliminating which is one of the purposes of the association which will be formed at Brazos valley cities. The meeting here Tuesday night will prepare plans for a meeting of representatives of all the sections interested in Brazos navigation and flood prevention, to be held at some central point within the next few days, to perfect the organization which will have for its prime purpose the furthering of Brazos navigation.

"Y" Boys' Cabinet to Meet in Woods

The boys of the cabinet of the Y. M. C. A. in their monthly meeting yesterday decided to have a meeting of the general committee of the boys' department and the cabinet Friday night week and at this meeting, which will be held in the woods to decide on the policy of the department for the coming winter.

Boys' Secretary A. J. Flowers, who has just returned from several weeks' vacation, met with the boys and he feels with the keen interest shown in the department by the boys that a successful winter's work is insured.

Boys of the committee who were present at the meeting yesterday were Joe Tucker, Baker Hoskins Jr., Marion Smyth, Francis Taylor, Charles Slaughter, John Harrison, Gabe Harman, Robert Abel, Farrand Wilson, Clyde O'Neal, Van Brown, Tom Harrison, Percy Taylor, Ben Lee Boynton and Carlos Lastinger.

PROGRAM OF 1915 COTTON PALACE SHOWS MULTITUDE OF NEW FEATURES AND LARGE NUMBER OF SPECIAL DAYS

Spectacular Pageant by Five Hundred Waco Children Will Be Given on Opening Day—Races and Athletic Events Expected to Prove Fine Drawing Cards—More Attention Than Usual Is Being Paid to Agriculture and Livestock This Year.

The directors of the Cotton Palace are highly elated over the excellent program that has been arranged for the exposition that will be opened to the public by Governor James E. Ferguson on Nov. 6. Many new features have been added this year of a highly important character. Several departments have been completely revolutionized. The hundreds of thousands of visitors to the Cotton Palace this fall will be especially surprised at the vast improvements that have been made since last year.

One of the most important permanent additions to the exposition is the construction of a magnificent half-mile race track, and a mammoth grandstand for the accommodation of those who wish to witness the greatest sport in the world. Far more interest is being shown in the coming horse races than was anticipated by the most sanguine supporters of that feature. It should be remembered that the Cotton Palace is one of the few exhibitions in the South that will have horse racing this year. Letters are being received every day from horse owners in various places signifying their intention of sending their horses here when the racing opens.

The musical part of the program will show a marked improvement over former years. At a great expense, Cavallo's celebrated band from Kansas City has been secured and will render free concerts during the afternoon and at night throughout the Cotton Palace season. The musical feature alone will be easily worth the price of admission.

There will be a marked improvement in the attractions on the Warpath. Arrangements are being made for free Warpath attractions of a character that will make the hair of the most blasé stand on end.

The better babies contest will be one of the big items on the program. Arrangements have been made for the conducting of the biggest contest that has ever been held in Texas.

Big Football Games.

For the first time in the history of the Cotton Palace, the popular game of football will be one of the attractions. Under the supervision of Director Clint Padgett, a gridiron will be constructed directly in front of the new grand stand, where the devotees of that game can sit in comfort and watch the young colossuses smash things generally. Games have been arranged between Baylor, Sewanee, Oklahoma A. & M. and Daniel Baker colleges. College girls and boys all over the state are interested in these games and will be here in large numbers.

The two big society events will be the queen's ball and the society ball. The committee in charge of the society ball declare it will be the greatest ball that has ever been held in Texas. Plans for this popular affair are now well under way. The coronation of the queen and the queen's ball will also be one of the most spectacular pictures ever presented to the people of Texas.

At 10 o'clock on the morning of the opening day of the Cotton Palace a monster cotton parade will be staged. Hundreds of farmers will be in line with their wagons loaded with bales of cotton. Last year this parade proved to be a popular innovation. It will be remembered that Governor Ferguson led the parade, driving a span of mules. He will be on the job again this year.

The indications are that more farm products will be on exhibition this autumn than were exhibited altogether since the Cotton Palace was first opened. The directors are going strong on this department and are offering unusually valuable premiums.

The livestock department is also being enlarged. New buildings for the accommodation of all kinds of livestock are being erected. Far more entries will be made this year than heretofore. An especial effort is being ing made by the management to please the stock raisers.

Perhaps the most spectacular outdoor part of the exposition will be the children's pageant, which will be held on the afternoon of the opening day of the Cotton Palace from 2 to 5 p. m. More than 500 children are now being trained for this affair.

Official Program.

A careful perusal of the following official program will disclose many other attractive features that have not been mentioned in the foregoing:

"A CONVICT'S DYING APPEAL"

Subject of Sermon at Columbus Street Baptist Church Tonight.

The pastor, Dr. F. S. Groner, will take for his subject this evening at 8 o'clock "A Convict's Dying Appeal." The congregations at this church Sunday evenings are unusually large, and you are cordially invited to come early in order that you may be comfortably seated.

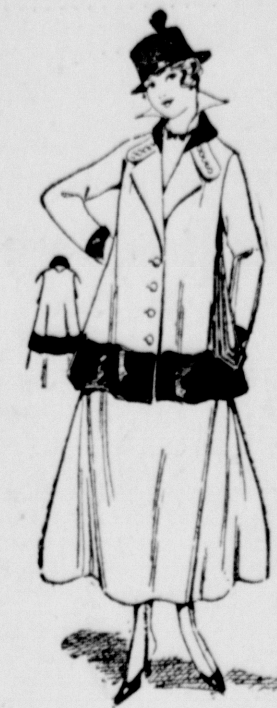

Last Sunday morning Dr. Groner's subject was "A Prophet at Court." Today at 11 a. m. he will preach from the subject, "A Prophet's Retreat." This being the second of a series of sermons on the Prophet Elijah. This will prove to be a very interesting series. Make it a point not to miss a single one of them.

The invitation to attend services at this church is cordially extended to all visitors in the city as well as to the home people.

507 AUSTIN AVENUE

MAENNERCHOR HALL WILL BE DEDICATED

ALL DAY CELEBRATION PLANNED BY GERMAN SINGING SOCIETY FOR NEXT TUESDAY.

Handsome New Building at Fourteenth and Clay Unusually Well Equipped.

An all day celebration will mark the formal opening of the new home of the Waco Maennerchor, Fourteenth and Clay streets, next Tuesday. An elaborate program has been arranged for the affair, which has long been looked forward to by the German citizens of the city. The new building is in every way an enlargement and improvement upon the old one which occupied the same site until it was destroyed by fire several months ago.

The celebration at the building will commence at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon, when the Maennerchor will sing the opening song, "Dies ist der Tag des Herrn." The afternoon program will embrace delivery of the keys to the new hall, songs and addresses in English and German. Two dance sessions, between which come a supper, and a program of songs and tableaux will constitute the evening program.

Arrangements for opening day are in charge of a committee composed of A. Haubold, E. Wosnig, O. P. Nagel, Ad Schack, M. Hille, W. F. Quebe, E. Forkel, F. Petzold and W. J. Geisler. Following is the program in full: Opening song, "Dies ist der Tag des Herrn."
Delivery of keys to hall.
Song, "Breuder reicht die Hand zum Bunde."
Song, "Saengergruss."
Address, Rev. J. Jaworski, pastor German Evangelical church.
Song, "Was ist des Deutschen Vaterland?"
Address in English.
Song, "Im Pokale."
Intermission 4 to 5.
Dancing 5 to 6 o'clock.
Supper 6:30 to 8 o'clock.
Song, "Das Deutsche Lied."
Tableaux, "Damenkranzchen."
Dancing 9 o'clock.
The Lott band, directed by J. Sarazin, will furnish music for the dances and will play a concert during the program.

The following interesting comment

WHITE PIMPLES DISFIGURED FACE
And Hands, Burned and Itched So Could Hardly Sleep or Put Hands In Water.

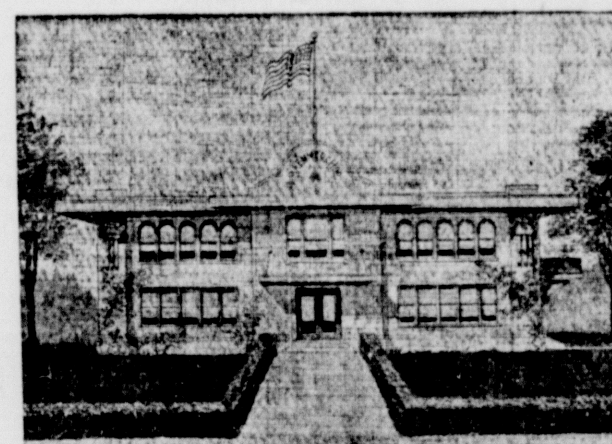

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My hands and face broke out with small white pimples. They burned and itched so at night that I could hardly sleep at all, and I was obliged to scratch and irritate the affected parts. I was not able to put my hands in water either without it causing pain. The breaking out disfigured my face for the time being causing quite a number of scars to appear."

"Finally I saw an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I bought a cake of Soap and a box of Ointment. I began to get relief at once and I was completely healed in six weeks." (Signed) H. Massamer, 210 Florida Ave., Jacksonville, Fla., March 19, 1915.

New Maennerchor Building.

WACO MAENNERCHOR WILL DEDICATE NEW HALL, FOURTEENTH AND CLAY, ON TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 14.

concerning the Waco Maennerchor and the opening next Tuesday has been furnished the Morning News by W. J. Geisler, official press reporter for the club.

Next Tuesday, September 14, will be a memorable day for the members of the Waco Maennerchor, the only German singing organization in Waco. It will be an all-day affair. While some of the new furniture has not arrived, everything else is ready for the big day. A German band has been secured for the day.

Programs and invitations have been sent out by the committee, as the opening is to be an invitation affair strictly.

The Waco Maennerchor was organized just twenty-one years ago, and so has just become of age. In the year 1894 some of the prominent Germans of Waco at that time met at the Union Hotel (now the New Katy). J. A. Lemke, proprietor of the hotel at that time, turned his dining room over to them and here they met under the leadership of Prof. Mueller. Later Prof. Metz, F. Lueters, Prof. Hoffmann and others led the singing and today Rev. J. Jaworski, pastor of the German Evangelical church is the leader.

Some of the charter members of the Maennerchor were: H. Amble, Lueters, Joe Woltz, Otto Berlich, O. Oberlander, John Witt, Mike Adams, Alvin Oberlander, F. Henjes, C. Blankenstein, Paul Gerff, George Greene, Charles Kaphal, Sam Sanger and others. Many have long since gone to that mysterious beyond from which even a singer never returns.

At present the following are active singers in the Maennerchor: First tenors—Alvin Oberlander, A. Haubold, W. J. Geisler, A. Forkel. Second tenors—Gus Schubert, Gus Servatius, B. Dietz, W. H. Berlich, Ad Schack.

First basses—M. Hille, Max Gottlieb, W. F. Quebe, E. Ruhnke. Second basses—John Nordurt, H. Mitscher, F. Petzold, Fred Berlich, E. C. Wosnig, E. Blanze.

While the main purpose of the Maennerchor is to promote the singing of the songs of the fatherland, it is by no means the only one. We have bowling alleys, pool tables, card tables and many other enjoyments for the members. The ladies of the Maennerchor have also an organization with Mrs. Oberlander, president; Mrs. Ad Schack, vice president; Mrs. W. J. Geisler, secretary, and Mrs. E. C. Wosnig, treasurer. These ladies will all be dressed in costumes on dedication day and have a secret surprise for them. There are twenty-five of these ladies.

While the Maennerchor is a German organization, it by no means confines its membership to Germans. We have some of the most prominent Americans of Waco who belong to the Maennerchor, and anyone is welcome who is of good character.

The building committee that had charge of building the new hall had quite a task to perform.

The present officers of the Maennerchor are:

A. Haubold, president; W. J. Geisler, vice president; M. Hille, secretary; E. C. Wosnig, treasurer. Other directors are: W. F. Quebe, O. Oberlander, F. Berlich, Ad Schack, O. P. Nagel and E. Forkel.

Pipe Organ Recital at St. Paul's Church

With Edward Bellamy at the organ, a second organ recital will be given at St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church at 8 o'clock tonight. The program includes numbers from Mendelssohn, Bach, Saint-Saens and others, as well as three violin solo numbers played by Miss Edith Lake. The offertory will be used for the charity work of St. Paul's parish.

Following is the program:

Short Prelude and Fugue, C Major
Bach
From the "Songs Without Words"
No. 18, A flat major, Mendelssohn
"Vision," Rheinberger
"Capriccio," Lemaigre
Solos for Violin—
(a) Allegro from First Violin Sonata, Haendel
(b) Air, from Orpheus, Gluck
Andante Cantabile, from the Fourth Organ Symphony, Widor
"The Swan," Saint-Saens
"Cradle Song," Karganoff
"Chorus," B flat major, Dubois

DAINGEROUS CALOMEL IS SELDOM SOLD NOW

Calomel Salivates! It Makes You Sick and You Lose a Day's Work
—Dodson's Liver Tone Acts Better Than Calomel and Is Harmless for Men, Women, Children—Read Guarantee!

Every druggist in the South—your druggist and everybody's druggist, has noticed a great falling-off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist. A large family-sized bottle costs only 50 cents and if you find it doesn't take the place of dangerous, salivating calomel you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a teaspoonful at night and wake up feeling fine, no sick headache, ague, sour stomach or clogged bowels. Dodson's Liver Tone doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all next day like calomel.

Take a dose of calomel tonight and tomorrow you will feel sick, weak and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up with your head clear, your liver active, bowels clean, breath sweet and stomach regulated. You will feel cheerful and full of vigor and ready for a hard day's work.

You can eat without risk of salivating yourself or your children.

Get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and try it on my guarantee. You'll never again put a dose of nasty, dangerous calomel into your stomach.

COTTON PALACE CALLS SHOULD HERE BE HEEDED

Numerous are the calls from the various committees and club committees for Cotton Palace work. All should heed, for with such mammoth undertakings, the attention of the individual is very necessary. Miss Anna Dilworth, 525 North Thirtieth street, requests a meeting of the committee for section one of the Children's Pageant on Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. J. T. Strain, chairman of the Indian division for the Children's Pageant requests mothers whose children, boys or girls, who have Indian suits, to volunteer entrance into the Indian division. Telephone new 1453 to Mrs. Strain, or old 167 to Miss Roberta Rogers. In case the child is already entered into another section, Mrs. Strain would be pleased to have offer of use of suit; also, offers of boys and girls with Indian ponies are solicited by volunteering this, the committee will be saved much work.

Mrs. J. M. Hale, general chairman for the Children's Pageant, gives notice that all chairmen of divisions will meet in the lobby of the Amicable building on Monday evening to hold conference in Holt Massey's office. Mrs. Wilkes, chairman of the Woman's Department of the Cotton Palace will attend this meeting; 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Marian Herz as general chairman for Woman's Day is getting together her forces. Her specific work will begin with the first meeting of the Jewish Women's Council, the first Tuesday in October.

THE MARY WEST CHAPTER FOR FOUNDER'S DAY

The United Daughters of the Confederacy was founded by Mrs. George Denton, out at the Canyon, was hostess, and her presence at the party extended even to the waiting carriage at each arriving street car, some distance from the picturesque home. Mrs. Denton had invited a number of her neighbors to enjoy the chapter program. Judge Denton made it convenient to be present, to greet not only the daughters, but a number of the Veterans who were present. One guest worthy mention was Mrs. Frank Maddox of Austin, who is prominent not only in the Austin chapter, but in the state division. The program as published was followed. Mrs. J. F. Smartt, the historian, being present from her summer absence in Tennessee. One feature, not previously announced was the reading of verses by Miss Decca Lamar West, a composition of Ella Wheeler Wilcox on the immortal hero of the Confederacy, Sam Davis. It was an interesting note that this hero's own niece, Mrs. S. A. Daniels, should be present to give the facts in Sam Davis' life. Mrs. Denton offered refreshing punch and otherwise made the observance of the Goodlett anniversary one of the notable sessions of the chapter. About fifty were present.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HELPS

Nothing excites more criticism than a woman with her face all daubed with face powder in her desire to hide a faulty or an aging skin. Instead of using powder, which clogs and enlarges the pores, it is far better to use a good face lotion that will improve and permanently benefit the skin. By dissolving four ounces of supramax in a half pint of hot water you can make an inexpensive lotion that will do wonders as a skin whitener and complexion beautifier. It removes all shininess, sallowness and roughness, and gives the skin a smooth, velvety tone, while it does not rub off easily like powder, nor does it show on the skin.

By washing the hair with a tea-spoonful of catnip dissolved in a cup of hot water, afterward rinsing thoroughly with clear water, one finds that it dries quickly and evenly, is unstreaked, bright, soft and very fluffy. In fact, that it looks more abundant than it is and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. This simple, inexpensive shampoo cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all dandruff and dirt and leaves a clean, wholesome feeling. All scalp irritation will disappear and the hair will be brighter and glossier than ever before.

Provision is made for a recess during Cotton Palace season. The active members given in the roster are Mesdames J. B. Beatty, Gaylord Bebout, E. M. Compton, J. M. Hale, J. H. Hill, Frank Ish, Willard Jackson, George King, R. S. Lazenby, E. J. Lennox, Edith Lessing, F. M. Longley, R. V. Logan, L. Mayfield, R. V. McKenney, S. T. Price, F. E. Robinson, E. W. Sanderson, Sanders, J. F. Smartt, Aleck Spencer, F. M. Thwing, William Vivrett and Miss Decca Lamar West.

Society Notes

Miss Daisy Brown of Terrace Row leaves later in the month to enter Ward-Belmont, Nashville.

The first of October will find Mrs. A. M. Pribe withdrawn from her club of friends here. A business promotion takes Mr. and Mrs. Pribe to reside in Saint Louis.

Among changes in prospect for the first of October, Mrs. Leslie Gardner again becomes matron of her bungalow, Rose Park Place.

After an extended sojourn in Kansas City, Mrs. Halsell has returned to spend the winter in Texas. She will divide the time between her daughters, Mrs. Frank Ish of North Eleventh street and W. M. Woodall in Austin.

Miss Helen Ball, whose former visits have made her a favorite in Waco society, arrives from Kansas within the next few days for the Lovelace-

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

What They Are Doing in Various Phases of Their Work in Texas

Reported Weekly in The Waco Morning News by Miss Kate Friend, Editor, 625 Terrace Row, Waco, Texas.

JEWISH WOMEN'S COUNCIL INAUGURATES CHAUTAUQUA

One of the latest extensions in the wonderful work being done by the National Jewish Women's Council is that of inaugurating Chautauquas. This Chautauqua idea is purely an American institution. From the small beginning it is coming now to be recognized as a national movement, a time when, after the strenuous life of winter, all may gather, men and women of all sorts and condition of occupation, and hear principles of world-wide movements discussed by those who know. It is this which has added the Chautauqua to the Jewish Women's Council. It was needed that there should be some place where Jewish activity could be intelligently explained as well as some place where the Jewish people could come into touch with world topics.

The interest to Texas is that a Texas woman, Miss Jeanette Goldberg, formerly of Marshall but now of Philadelphia, and a national officer, is organizing these Chautauquas. She was in St. Louis during the past week. This means, doubtless, that sooner or later she will be in Texas.

PARENTS BEGIN TO STUDY IN UNIVERSITY COURSES

The University of Wisconsin has opened a new course of study and for a new element of student. This is a course for study of the faults in children, something altogether practical. All parents are invited to join the course. The course of study touches such phases of child life as lying, theft, teasing, bullying, timidity, boasting, and so on. These traits discussed and assigned to psychological cause will lead into the relation of the child to the community, as well as the duties of parent to that child and to that community. All the best of pedagogical and physiological study will be applied by the instructors. The prominent women's clubs of Chicago have given hearty endorsement.

WOMEN ARE INTERESTED IN COUNTY GIRLS CLUBS

The movement is spreading at rapid rate, that of interest among the women of Texas, both city and country, over the Girls' Clubs. Demonstrators are leaving the A. and M. as rapidly as they can be supplied, and the several counties are arousing to the advantage of supplying the necessary fund for carrying on a club. Men's Business League of Waco are among the last to take up the work. One of the demonstrators appeared and, in a wonderfully appealing speech, roused the members to favorable action. The benefit of these clubs are both indirect and direct; indirectly, they afford pleasurable and profitable occupation for the girls on the farms. This tends towards content at home, and relief to the congested conditions of the cities. Also, it tends towards relief from the moral danger which confronts the country girl in her new and unknown home. The direct benefit is the means taken to the country girl for making money in her own home. Instances are reported where girls have made, through their canning, sufficient to keep them at the College of Industrial Arts, for an entire year. Thus, heretofore denied opportunity, the girl of the country is coming into her own. Demonstrators are supplied from the Agricultural and Mechanical college. These go direct into the country, organize and instruct. Information further can be had by writing direct to the A. and M. college, College Station, Texas.

WOMAN'S CITY CLUB NOW TO BE FORMED

Following the day when they obtain the ballot, the women of New York propose to have organized a club something after the plan of the men's city club. This means, first of all, a club house. Here will be kept a roll of women engaged in all lines of activity who manifest active interest in the welfare of their sex, and all civic measures. From this will emanate women's attitude towards the various civic reforms which are promoted from time to time. One hundred women are to be charter members. These have already been approached. The nucleus of the idea in this new club is, it will concentrate the women, now allied with a number of separate organizations. One of the prime promoters is Miss Mary Garrett Hay, who was so prominent in the New York delegation at the Chicago Biennial.

TEXAS WOMEN'S FAIR INVITES WOMEN WRITERS

The following is self explanatory: Women writers of this state, journalists, authors and poets, who expect to attend the coming Texas Women's Fair, held in Houston, October 11-16, will please send in their names at once to Mrs. Florence N. Dancy, 1308 Jackson street, Houston, in order that the names may be reserved in the automobiles for the great educational and industrial parade to be held on the opening days, Monday and Tuesday.

F. N. DANCY.

MRS. PENNYBACKER'S OFFICIAL LETTER COMES

My Dear Friends: I am just back from the Pacific Slope after an absence of more than three months. If you have not already visited the expositions, let me beg you not to miss the opportunity of so doing. Both San Diego and San Francisco are wonders of harmony and beauty. If one did nothing but sit for days and let the exquisite loveliness creep into the heart and soul and mind, it would be time well spent. No life can dwell with so much beauty and not be the fuller and richer therefore. We feel especially gratified that under the guidance of Mrs. Hearst and Mrs. Sanborn, every precaution has been taken to guard girls and women. The whole atmosphere of woman's part in the exposition is such as to make American women proud of their California sisters.

I was much pleased to hear Mr. Trask, a director of the art department, pay a tribute to our own Mrs. Melville Johnston.

Everywhere throughout Washington, Oregon, Utah, Idaho, Montana, California, Nevada and Alaska I was impressed by the fine open spirit of the women. Everywhere, too, I was touched by the generous appreciation of these fine qualities by the visitors who came from the north, the east and the south. One of the greatest benefits of travel is the fact that we learn to admire and love our country as a whole; that we see in every section something that we can learn, something that we can imitate. Each of us has much to give but also much to receive.

Mrs. Ripley Resigns.

You will be sorry to learn that Mrs. Ellor Ripley of Boston has been compelled to resign the chairmanship of the educational department on account of her professional duties as assistant superintendent of the Boston public schools, leaving her no time for the arduous duties of chairmanship. The vacancy has not yet been filled.

New Plan.

At the Portland board meeting it was decided to adopt a new method of committee appointments. Up to the present time each of our eleven departments has been made up of from ten to twenty representatives from different sections of the country. Now, however, we choose a chairman, a secretary, and perhaps a secretary, from the country at large, and take as the rest of our committees the various state chairmen. For instance, the department of music will consist of the chairman, Mrs. Waverly, Connecticut, two other women chosen by the board, and then the various music chairmen of the forty-nine states. Whenever a chairmanship changes in a state the personnel of our committee necessarily changes. We believe that this new plan will do much toward bringing about a closer affiliation between the state and the general federation. It seems the logical step to take, although it creates departments that may seem almost unwieldy on account of their size. However, with a chairman at the head who possesses the gift of organization, we feel sure results will justify the change. For the remainder of this administration, in addition to the state chairmen, the women who are already on the committees will retain their places. I wonder if you know that one of the rules for the guidance of these committees reads as follows: "Whenever a committee member shall have failed to answer three letters without good excuse she shall be automatically dropped from the committee." Do you think this rule would perhaps work well in state federations?

Suggestions to State Conventions. Since our state conventions begin this month, I should like to make three suggestions. First, have community singing. The Portland council certainly proved that the singing of the best songs by the entire audience, under skilled leadership, did much toward knitting the audience into a composite whole, thus strengthening the bond of union. It also affords a rest, both to body and mind. We must pay more attention to the physical comforts of our conventions, if we would have the best order and preserve the closest attention. When one has been listening intently for an hour to scholarly presentations of some subjects, it is a tremendous relief to stand and sing together some hymn or some rousing anthem that has come down through the ages.

Time Limits.

While I know it is hard to enforce a time limit, yet the salvation of a program depends upon this being done. Perhaps a timid president will be strengthened when she realizes that the allowing of people who come early on the program to run over time is virtually robbing those who come later of their just dues. Some presidents refrain from using the gavel because they feel that the house will resent it, but is this the case? If the audience is convinced that the president is fair, that she wants to be just to all, and that she has at heart only the good of the entire program, they will sustain her rulings. When a man or a woman is asked to consume twenty minutes, and deliberately produces a paper or address that takes thirty, forty, fifty or sixty minutes, both honesty and courtesy demand that justice be meted out.

Resolutions in Installments. Many have written that state federations might well follow the precedent established at the last biennial of introducing resolutions in installments. So much complaint had reached me at various state and district meetings of vital resolutions being passed in the closing hours of a session, that I was emboldened to suggest to Mrs. Sneath that at Chicago the committee should introduce every morning the resolutions that were on the work treated of the day before. This also cleared the deck every twenty-four hours, gave an opportunity for more deliberation, and brought action in the early morning hours, when the brains were clear, and the audience least restless.

The New York Biennial.

Don't you think it will be a wise plan to begin now to prepare for the New York biennial, which is to convene on May 24, 1916? When we plan ahead for an event we are much more apt to bring it to pass than if we leave it to the last moment. The meetings are to be held at the Apodrome, which contains 600 comfortable chairs. There will be ample check and rest rooms, and the New York women will leave nothing undone to add to the comfort of the visitors. I have asked the local board to appoint at least two New York women to look after each state delegation. They have not only consented to this but they find in their great metropolis that there will be women enough natives of the various states to minister to the needs of these states. For instance, Iowa will be especially looked after by two delightful women, who though now living in New York, hail from Iowa. There will be an all-day session with Mrs. Everett, the chairman of the program committee of the biennial.

Duty to Women of Latin-American States. Among the interesting incidents that I heard of during my stay on the Pacific slope was a talk from a very intelligent woman from Buenos Aires, as she told me of the conditions there I was led to speak to her of the treatment I have had for the last few months concerning our duty toward the women of South and Central America. We know so much of the peoples of Europe, and so little, dear friends, of the home life of the peoples of our own continent. I feel that never will be the tie between North, Central and South America as close as it should be, until the women of these countries know and understand each other better. Our South American friend said every thought of this kind found an echo in their hearts. I want to ask each of you to think along these lines and see if you cannot suggest some definite plan. Of course, we have a few foreign clubs, and our Mrs. Philip N. Moore, as foreign correspondent, has left us no opportunity for service, but our organization as a whole should now awaken to our

The Bed That Built a Six Acre Addition to the BIGGEST BED FACTORY on Earth

With our customary enterprise, ours is the first and only store here to offer its customers the new Simmons Steel Bed, a remarkable innovation that is absolutely the last word in metal bed construction. This is the bed which has revolutionized the steel bed business. There have been more improvements made on this one bed alone than on all the metal beds designed in the past ten years.

We have been watching this bed carefully ever since it was first announced. We have seen each new feature of it tried, tested and proven. Finally, we have had a stock shipped to us and now offer it to our customers.

Simmons—

the Makers of this New Steel Bed—
Authorize Us to Say

That this bed averages 33 per cent lighter than old style iron beds;

That new tested principles of construction ensure absolute rigidity for this steel bed;

That the finish is finer than on the highest priced iron beds;

That all corner bends are perfect, true and even and never "out of round" as on all old-style iron beds;

That the material used throughout is Cold-Rolled Burnished Tube Steel or saw-blade smoothness and made in their own factory to assure absolute perfection.

Thousands of other dealers are doing the same thing. To fill the orders which have poured in for this new bed, the Simmons people who make it, have built a six acre addition to their plant. And already they had the largest bed factory in the world.

We want to prepare you for a surprise in the matter of price. You expect it to be high because of the Beauty, Finish, Light Weight and Improvements. But the price is low!

The saving in weight is a saving in raw material. So the Simmons Manufacturing Company makes this greatly improved bed so we can sell it for only a trifle more than the old style, heavy weight iron beds. Our stock is here now. Please see it early.

Bed exactly like cut this week only $5.95.

Sick Women Attention

Is it possible there is a woman in this country who continues to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, which proves beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other one medicine in the world?

We have published in the newspapers of the United States more genuine testimonial letters than have ever been published in the interest of any other medicine for women—and every year we publish many new testimonials, all genuine and true. Here are three never before published:

From Mrs. S. T. Richmond, Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—"For the benefit of women who suffer as I have done I wish to state what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I did some heavy lifting and the doctor said it caused a displacement. I have always been weak and I overworked after my baby was born and inflammation set in, then nervous prostration, from which I did not recover until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The Compound is my best friend and when I hear of a woman with troubles like mine I try to induce her to take your medicine."—Mrs. S. T. RICHMOND, 84 Progress Avenue, Providence, R.I.

From Mrs. Maria Irwin, Peru, N.Y.

PERU, N.Y.—"Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was very irregular and had much pain. I had lost three children, and felt worn out all the time. This splendid medicine helped me as nothing else had done, and I am thankful every day that I took it."—Mrs. MARIA IRWIN, R.F.D. 1, Peru, N.Y.

From Mrs. Jane D. Duncan, W. Quincy, Mass.

SOUTH QUINCY, MASS.—"The doctor said that I had organic trouble and he doctored me for a long time and I did not get any relief. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and I tried it and found relief before I had finished the first bottle. I continued taking it all through middle life and am now a strong, healthy woman and earn my own living."—Mrs. JANE D. DUNCAN, Forest Avenue, West Quincy, Mass.

This association, in which our own Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon plays an important part, is to meet in Minneapolis October 6, 7, 8. Every club woman would be helped by attending.

With the coming of fall the last year of our administrative work is drawing to a close. I am safely settled at college, I shall begin a round of official calls. Please send me your most encouraging thoughts. With every good wish for the club year, Cordially yours, ANNA J. H. PENNYBACKER.

Hair Made Curly In Single Night

(Woman's Tribune.)

It has been discovered that the application of liquid silmerine actually makes straight hair curly and wavy in a single night! Also it acts as a perfectly harmless hair beautifier and dressing. It has the peculiar quality of drying in pretty waves, swirls and creases. Straight, lanky hair and the cruel curling iron are no longer necessary. Any drugstore of course can supply you with a few ounces of the liquid silmerine, enough to keep the hair curly for several weeks. It is neither sticky nor greasy, but very pleasant to use. Apply to the hair at bedtime with a clean tooth brush. In the morning your hair will be very beautiful and have a most natural curl and waviness.

STATISTICS ON LIBRARIES SHOW REMARKABLE GROWTH
The last census of public libraries carries some remarkable figures. Since 1908 there have been added for public use 20,000,000 volumes. These do not include private and school libraries. There are now 18,000 regularly established public libraries, which represent 75,000,000 volumes. When this enormous scope is grasped, the women may feel cause for congratulation that they have been the most powerful factor in giving the American people this opportunity for free education.

WIFE OF CHINESE JURIST IS AN ARDENT CLUB WOMAN

During the National Bar association convention, which convened in Salt Lake City in August, one of the interesting visitors was a judge from the United States court in China. He was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Charles Lohinger. Mrs. Lohinger is an enthusiastic club woman, chairman of the philanthropic section of the American Woman's club at Shanghai. Before going to China this ardent club woman organized and was president for the first woman's club in the Philippines. While primarily attending the Bar association's convention, this interesting woman studied conditions of the American woman and the Chinese women the fruits of her observation.

FIERY CROSS REVIVED

Once upon a time, when the clans of Scotland were to be gathered, a herald was started out with a fiery torch. He delivered it to the nearest clan, which passed it to the next. And thus the armies mustered. Such an idea is revived by the women of New York state, who are working so heroically to carry the suffrage amendment at the November election. It is recalled that Miss Todd of California, who made such strong lectures in Texas last season, hurried on to assist the cause in New York. Following the path of the suffrage torch, in advance, porches, platforms and other stands were decorated and in readiness for the speakers as they arrived by automobile. The torch crossed the entire state of New York. It was a flambeau designed by a woman in one of the art schools. Returning from the New York tour, or who will be formally presented for similar service by the women of New Jersey. Surely the women who are working for suffrage are nothing if not original in their plans for holding the attention of the men who will vote on the amendment.

BEULOW'S LOYAL COOK.

Kaiser Sends Him a Gift for His Faithfulness.

(From the Dundee Advertiser.) Prince Beulow, whom the Kaiser sent to Rome on what has proved to be a disastrous special mission, has a fund of anecdotes, and has been heard to tell this amusing story, in which the "all-highest" plays a leading part. Some years ago, when he was retiring from the ambassadorship at Rome to take up the post of chancellor of the empire, he summoned his cook, a veritable cordon bleu, to tell him of the change. "We shall not live in our present grand style," he said, "but on a much smaller scale. Perhaps, therefore, you would prefer to find another place."

The cook, doubtless imagining that financial disaster was impending, remained silent for a few moments, then, with the air of one about to perform a sympathetic act, replied:

"Well, Excellency, I am grieved at hearing such melancholy news, but I shall remain in your service. What-happen may happen to you, I have deserted you in your time of misery."

At dinner one evening the prince told the story to the Kaiser, who had had personal experience of the culinary chef's skill, and was highly amused at the prince's anecdote. So interested indeed, did the emperor feel in the cook that shortly afterward he sent the worthy fellow a handsome gold watch, on the lid of which was engraved the words "Misery, my story which name his Majesty ever afterward laughingly spoke of and addressed him.

Sister: Read My Free Offer!

I am a woman. I know a woman's trials. I know her need of sympathy and help. If you, my sister, are unhappy because of ill-health, if health is worth asking for, if you are suffering from daily employment, write and tell me just how you suffer, and ask for my free ten days' trial of a home treatment suited to your needs. Men cannot understand our sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any man. I want to tell you how to cure yourself at home at a cost of about 12 cents a week. If you suffer from women's peculiar ailments causing pain in the head, back, or bowels, feeling of weight and dragging down sensation, falling or displacement of pelvic organs, causing kidney and bladder weakness or constipation and piles, painful or irregular periods, catarrhal conditions and discharges, extreme nervousness, depressed spirits, melancholy, desire to cry, fear of something evil about to happen, creeping feeling along the spine, palpitation, hot flashes, weariness, sallow complexion with dark circles under the eyes, pain in the left breast or a general feeling that life is not worth living, and learn how these ailments can be easily and surely conquered at home without the dangers and expense of an operation. When you are cured, and able to enjoy life again, you can pass the good word along to some other sufferer. My home treatment is for young or old. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain how to overcome green sickness (chlorosis), irregularities, headaches, and lassitude in young women and restore them to plumpness and health. Tell me if you are worried about your daughter. Remember it costs you nothing to give my home treatment a ten days' trial, and I will send all in plain wrappers postpaid. To save time, you can cut out this offer, mark your feet and return to me. Send today, as you may not see this offer again. Address:

THEATRES

HIPPODROME.

Program for Week.
Monday and Tuesday—"The Wolf Man," four-reel Mutual master picture, with Billy West and Ralph Lewis.
Wednesday and Thursday—"The Man from Oregon," five-reel Thomas H. Ince feature with Clara Williams, Herschel Mayall and Howard Hickman.
Friday and Saturday—"The Song of Hate," six-reel Fox feature with Betty Nansen and Arthur Hoops.

Hippodrome Announces New Plans.

With the coming of the fall season, the Hippodrome management has performed its semi-annual house cleaning by eliminating some brands of films that have been shown there, and have signed contracts for others. The fall and winter season at the Hippodrome promises to be the strongest and most wholly entertaining in its history.

It is announced that beginning with performances tomorrow, the pictures will be severely criticised before appearing on the screen. It will be the purpose of the theatre to show only all semi-good and mediocre films and show only those that have been successful on the Queen circuit of theatres in Texas.

In future William Fox films will be shown at the Hippodrome every Friday and Saturday. The second picture will be "The Song of Hate" with Betty Nansen, here the coming Friday and Saturday.

"The Wolf Man."

Billie West, who has the lead in "The Wolf Man," four-reel Mutual master picture showing at the Hippodrome tomorrow and Tuesday, recently received an unusual letter from a farmer, located some distance outside one of the larger towns in the Canadian northwest. Unlike many of the letters received by screen players, it did not propose marriage; to the contrary, the writer declared with emphasis that he was happily married and hoped to remain so for a long time to come.

But the farmer admitted that he was in dire need of a first-class assistant and had planned to try out a woman, for, as he wrote, "they attend more to business than does a man." "I saw you in a picture recently," the letter declared, "and you look like a good and capable business woman. In this position your salary and commissions would total six or seven hundred dollars a year. I'm sure that you will agree with me that that is doing pretty well for a woman. My wife, who for the past few years has been looking after that end of the business, desires to devote all her time to our children. Please let me know if you will accept."

Miss West wrote back that while she appreciated the offer she found it impossible to accept for various reasons.

"Your offer is a generous one," Miss West wrote, "and I am sure I appreciate it. But, in my present employment, I make almost as much in one week as you promise me for a year's employment, which you will admit is doing pretty fair for a woman."

"The Man from Oregon."

C. Gardner Sullivan is the author of "The Man from Oregon," a new Thomas H. Ince feature showing at the Hippodrome on Wednesday and Thursday. The picture is in five reels. The corrupt methods pursued by the land-grab lobby at Washington, which were laid before the public some years ago, resulting in widespread indignation and a house-cleaning in national politics, are strikingly portrayed in "The Man from Oregon."

Much has been said and printed regarding the viciousness of the various lobbies maintained at the national and state capitals throughout the country, and many are the politicians who have waxed wealthy or gone into political oblivion, and frequently to prison, as a result of their connections with them. But it is doubtful if the machinations of these lobbies, particularly in connection with the efforts frequently made to grab off large sections of land, have never been shown in so forcible a manner as is done in "The Man from Oregon."

Throughout the picture the means frequently used by the secret agents of the lobbies to ensnare the politicians they deem necessary to their work are shown. One scene in particular, depicting the use of a camera by a secret agent to entrap a particular senator whose vote they need, is shown. It is one of the most striking scenes of its kind ever presented on a motion picture screen.

"The Song of Hate."

Betty Nansen, the eminent tragedienne, who has been seen in such famous William Fox successes as "A Woman's Resurrection" and "Should a Mother Tell?" appears at the Hippodrome Friday and Saturday in her latest William Fox photodrama, "The Song of Hate," which is based upon Victorien Sardou's world-known Tosca. Miss Nansen gave particular study to the character of Floria Tosca, as she met Sardou in Paris during the time that he was writing this drama, in which Sarah Bernhardt created the role now played by Miss Nansen in the Fox screen version. Speaking of the character of Floria in a recent interview, Miss Nansen said: "Floria is not, as some critics have declared, a creature of impulse, driven by every passing wave of passion or inclination. She is a true woman with the heart and instincts of her sex. But she is brave enough, when a deep love possesses her soul, to give herself over to it, regardless of what the world may say. She is a character in whom I am deeply interested, because of her humanness. Faced by the most trying climax that can arise in a woman's life, when her very soul is placed upon the rack of self-sacrifice, the metal of her heart rings true. At the cost of her honor, she still holds to her great love and even at the darkest hour, when the dark shadows of fate envelop her, her woman's nobler nature saves her lover from a fearful fate. Floria La Tosca is the most interesting part I have ever played. I created the character at the Royal theatre in Copenhagen, at the special request of the author."

QUEEN.

Monday and Tuesday, Charlotte Walker in "Out of Darkness."

Charlotte Walker, the celebrated theatrical star, will make her second appearance before photo-dramatic audiences in the thrilling drama of lost identity, "Out of Darkness," by Hector Turnbull.

Produced by the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Film company, in this play Miss Walker is said to equal the success she made in the Lasky production of "Kindling."

In "Out of Darkness" Miss Walker is seen as Helen Scott, wealthy young heiress and owner of the famous Scott Canneries. Helen, however, is so interested in society that she leaves the handling of her business affairs to her hard-fisted uncle.

Harvey Brooks, the resident manager of the Tampa, Fla., branch of the Canneries, has hundreds of girls in his employ and they are all paid the insignificant sum of thirty cents a day for thirteen hours' labor over the heavy cutting table. He has pleaded with Helen Scott and her uncle to do something to better the working conditions but has always been ignored.

During the height of the social season, Helen goes to Palm Beach, to attend the yacht races. While sailing her sloop one foggy night, it is run down and sunk by a large fruit schooner belonging to the Scott Cannery company. She is picked out of the water with a badly cut head and is carried to Tampa by the captain of the schooner.

When Helen recovers consciousness, she is unable to remember any of the past incidents of her life and the wife of the schooner captain with the assistance of the daughter, secure work for Helen in the cannery. The wealthy heiress falls in love with young Brooks and he is in love with her. How she breaks down his hatred of the cannery labor conditions and helps him to better the labor conditions are but a few of the thrilling incidents in this strong play.

In the cast supporting Miss Walker are such well known artists as Thomas Meighan, remembered for his splendid work in "Kindling" and "The Fighting Hope," clever Marjorie Day, Hal Clements, Tom Forman, Mrs. Loyola O'Connor and other members of the Lasky all-star stock company.

Wednesday, "Born Again."

Dorothy Gray has a quarrel with her stepmother and goes upon the stage. She meets with immediate success, but is disgusted with her surroundings. A theatrical manager makes himself obnoxious by his attentions, and when George Dunbar, a wealthy man, proposes to her, Dorothy accepts him. The next day, immediately after the ceremony, Dunbar gives a dinner to a few friends at his country home. It is a fast crowd and too much wine is drunk. In his intoxicated condition, Dunbar is a revolting sight to Dorothy. Seeing that Dorothy is displeased, Dunbar orders the people to leave. In the meantime, he tries to make up with Dorothy, but she will not permit him to bride, and she turns from her baby in horror and refuses to see Jeff. To the doctor she tells her story and the name of her first husband. He then tells her what occurred on the night of her marriage to Jeff. Dunbar having gone out in his racing car in an intoxicated condition, and having fallen over a high cliff and been killed. The call for the doctor came when he was at the Marsh home, and he hurried to the scene of the accident. It therefore developed that Dunbar died thirty minutes before Dorothy's wedding. The doctor calls Jeff and he is joyfully received by his wife.

touch her. Filled with revulsion she determines to leave her husband, but he catches her and throws her back into the room, her head striking on a chair. Immediately after Dunbar falls into an epileptic fit. The butler phones for Doctor Morrow, and Dorothy makes her escape.

Dorothy wanders aimlessly until sunrise and is half delirious when she reaches the farm of the widow Marsh and her son, Jeff. Dorothy becomes hysterical and Dr. Morrow is compelled to give her a hypodermic injection. She awakens faint and blank, the blow on the head having caused amnesia. She has the mind of a child, though she learns with astounding rapidity. With her matured brain, however, she acquires knowledge hourly at a yearly rate, and soon her mind is completely restored, though her memory prior to her arrival at the farm house when she gave a fictitious name, is entirely blank.

Jeff falls in love with Dorothy and the two are married. On the night of the wedding Dr. Morrow is called away. Dr. Morrow finally comes back and the wedding takes place. A year later a baby is born and Dorothy's memory is completely restored. In visions she lives again the incidents which make her twice a which she opens the front door for Gaspard. On gaining admittance he sends back the girl with a note to Jacobs telling him that his plan is certain of success. While robbing the safe in the house Gaspard is surprised by his wife. He shoots her and makes his escape. Arthur is accused of the crime, it being well known that he is in need of money.

Gaspard wrecks his home with explosives, but a spring lock on the sewer gate entraps him. As Iris has taken his keys, he is forced to remain in the vicinity of the explosion and meets a terrible doom. Later Arthur's mother recognizes the dead man as her assailant, and the young man's innocence is established. The mother keeps Ar-

Tuesday Lois Weber's greatest photoplay—said by many critics to be the foremost motion picture production—"Hypocrites," will be the flex attraction. No doubt every patron of the photoplay will avail themselves of this opportunity to see this world-famed picture on this date.

The Gaumont company's products are the latest additions to the program as shown weekly at the Rex, the feature release for Friday being "The Unsuspected Isles," featuring Fania Marinoff and a star cast of players. This particular picture is said to be a novelty in dramatic construction.

The universal favorite, "Rip Van Winkle," which features Thomas Jefferson, is to be the Rex children's day attraction for the coming Saturday and will doubtless tax to capacity this popular theatre during the hours of its exhibition.

EUTERPEAN CLUB.

Mrs. Pearl Mackey Lowe.

Her many friends in this city will be delighted to learn that the Euterpean Club will present Mrs. Pearl Mackey Lowe, soprano, in a recital on Thursday evening, September 6, at the club rooms in the Central Christian church.

Mrs. Lowe appeared on the program at the Cotton Palace on Woman's Day two years ago, and at that time charmed the audience by her beautiful clear sympathetic voice. Since then she has been in New York, and during the summer months has studied with two of the best voice instructors of that place.

Her appearance in Waco is one of universal interest.

Henderson County Coming in Force to Cotton Palace

The prospects are getting brighter and brighter every day for a record breaking attendance at the Cotton Palace. R. T. Craig, the live, hustling editor of the Chandler Times, has sent word that the people of Henderson county are planning to get up a special train representing that county and come to the Cotton Palace with the biggest crowd that has ever left that county at one time. He says they propose to close up the whole county and make one grand day of it. Craig is one of the greatest hustlers and boosters in Texas. He has put his town on the map in a remarkable manner. He never starts anything that he cannot finish in a creditable manner. Mr. Craig says the crops in his territory have been of the bumper variety, and as a result the agriculturists are in an enthusiastic frame of mind, and are ready for a big outing. With Henderson county setting the pace in such a spectacular style, it is believed that other East Texas counties will soon fall in line and send word that they will be here for the exposition in full force.

Friday and Saturday, Blanche Sweet in "The Case of Becky." Blanche Sweet, the idol of motion picture theatregoers, is to appear in a dual role in her next production, in the Lasky release of the famous Edward Locke drama, "The Case of Becky," one of David Belasco's greatest dramatic productions.

In this photo-drama, Blanche Sweet is a feminine Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. As the sweet, pretty girl, Dorothy, she is loved by everyone and makes many friends, but when her other self appears, as Becky, she is a mean, disreputable creature.

Dorothy, a sweet, refined, pretty girl has been brought up to appear in public with Balzamo, a hypnotist, who claims to be her guardian and who finds, in Dorothy, a wonderful medium for the display of his power. By constantly subjecting her to the hypnotic influences, he has weakened Dorothy's will power and the dual personality which lurks in every one has become so strong that it insists upon manifesting itself to the world as another personage in the bodily form of Dorothy. This person calls itself Becky and is fully cognizant of Dorothy, whom she hates, whereas Dorothy is not so truly aware of Becky—she does not remember all that Becky has said and done.

Becky runs away from Balzamo and has many experiences earning her living. She always obtains a position through the sweetness and amiability of Dorothy and loses it through the ugliness and malice of Becky.

Becky finally visits a sanitarium and there a young doctor who has wonderful hypnotic power falls in love with her. He recognizes the dual personality and resolves to help Dorothy. How he finally manages to kill the malicious Becky, leaving only the sweet and lovely Dorothy is only one of the many incidents in this unusual and gripping production.

Supporting Miss Sweet are the well known stars, Carlyle Blackwell, Theodore Roberts and James Neill.

The play is produced in the established Lasky-delaunay manner and is one of the most unusual photo-dramas ever seen on the screen.

Three Five-Passenger Ford Automobiles and 15 other Valuable Prizes will be given away by the Waco Morning News in a great popular voting contest

THIS CONTEST will open formally Today, September 12th, and will close on Thursday, November 11th. It costs nothing to enter this prize contest. All that is necessary is a little of your time. Make up your mind that you will win one of the prizes and send in your name at once.

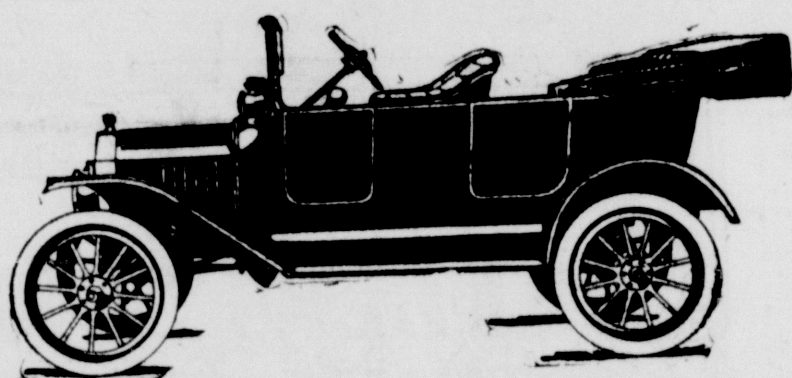

Division of Districts

For the various purposes of this contest the territory covered by The Morning News has been divided into three districts or divisions, as follows:

DISTRICT ONE—All territory in the City of Waco, Texas.

DISTRICT TWO—The towns of McGregor, Gatesville, Hamilton, Moody, Crawford, Whitney, Aquilla, West, Hillsboro, Mart, Marlin, Temple, Rosebud, Riesel, Hubbard City, Mt. Calm, Corsicana, Lott, Chilton, Rockdale, Cameron, Calvert, Hearne, Bryan, Dawson, Malone, Meridian, Valley Mills, Groesbeck and Mexia.

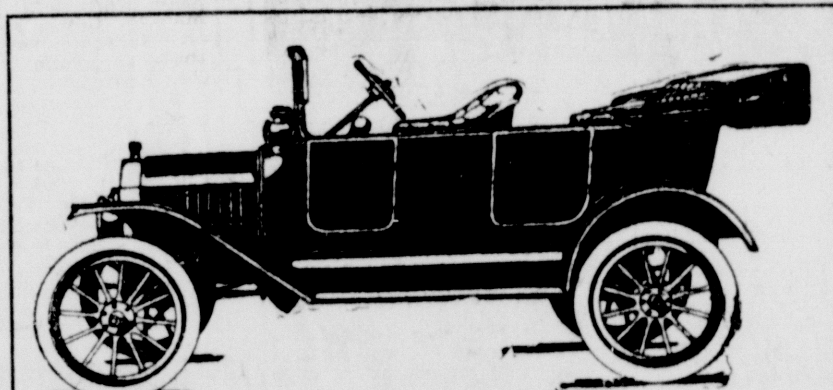

DISTRICT THREE—All towns and rural territory not embraced in Districts One and Two.

This five-passenger Ford touring car, fully equipped, of the latest 1916 model, will be given absolutely free to the Contestant residing in District One who obtains the largest number of votes.

The chief prizes in this contest are three Ford touring cars, exactly like photographs shown in this advertisement. Each of the three cars is valued at $475, and they are the latest model, fully equipped. The News also pays the freight on each automobile. The other prizes consist of three building lots valued at $300 each; three genuine diamonds valued at $100 each; three commercial business scholarships valued at $75 each; three diamonds valued at $50 each, and three gold watches valued at $25 each. In another section of this advertisement you will find the manner in which the prizes are to be awarded. The territory has been divided into three districts, and there will be an automobile given to each person in each district who receives the largest number of votes, and an equal number of prizes of same value to the next five who finish in each district.

The contest is now open for nominations. In order to enter you must clip out the Nomination Blank on this page and send it to the Contest Editor of The Waco Morning News. The names of all those who have entered will be published in next Sunday's News. Make up your mind that you want to win an automobile and send in your name at once. Votes are given upon payment of subscriptions to The News and by clipping ballots from each issue of the paper. The first ballots appear today, Sunday, September 12.

This five-passenger Ford touring car, fully equipped, of the latest 1916 model, will be given absolutely free to the Contestant residing in District Two who obtains the largest number of votes.

The List of Prizes

Three five-passenger Ford touring cars, fully equipped, valued at $475 each.

Three elegant residence building lots, located in additions to the City of Waco, valued at $300 each.

Three beautiful genuine diamond rings, valued at $100 each.

Three commercial business courses in Business Colleges of Waco, valued at $75 each.

Three elegant diamonds or lavalliers, each valued at $50.

Three solid gold watches, each valued at $25.

This five-passenger Ford touring car, fully equipped, of the latest 1916 model, will be given absolutely free to the Contestant residing in District Three who obtains the largest number of votes.

RULES OF THE CONTEST

Any white man or woman, boy or girl, of good repute, of any age, living anywhere in the territory embraced in this contest is permitted to enter and compete for the prizes.

To enter the race, clip out the nomination coupon on this page. Fill in your name and address or that of some friend or relative, and send to the Waco Morning News Contest Department today. It costs you nothing to enter and costs your friends nothing to vote for you.

No employee of The News or member of his or her family will be permitted to participate in this contest as a contestant.

In case of a tie, the value of the prize will be equally divided between the tying contestants.

Votes issued to one candidate cannot be transferred or changed to the credit of another.

Candidates and their friends are not restricted to securing votes and subscriptions in their own district, but may secure them anywhere in the United States.

A committee of unimpeachable public men will be selected to judge the finish of this contest.

Any question that may arise between the contestants not covered by the rules in this contest will be determined by the Contest Manager. And his decision will be absolutely final.

Besides votes allowed on prepaid subscriptions, a coupon good for certain number of votes will be published in each issue of The News until further notice. Each coupon printed will be limited and must be cast in The News office before expiration of the date printed thereon, which will be twelve days after publication.

Candidates in one district do not compete with those in another district. The division of districts so equalizes competition that each contestant has an equal chance to win a prize.

Votes cannot be bought or sold or traded. They cannot be obtained any by paying a subscription for The News or by clipping the daily ballots from the paper.

The right is reserved to reject the name of any candidate who does contrary to the rules set forth herein, and The News reserves the privilege to alter and provide additional regulations if the occasion should so demand.

Votes obtained on subscriptions can be held in reserve until the closing day of the contest, or voted at the discretion of the candidate.

How the Prizes will be Awarded

The judges at the finish of the contest will be guided by the following rules and regulations:

First Prize in Each District.

The lady or gentleman having the largest number of votes in each of the three districts at the close of the contest will each be awarded a five-passenger Ford touring car valued at $475.

Second Prize in Each District.

The lady or gentleman having the second largest number of votes in each of the three districts at the close of the contest will each be awarded a $300 lot in one of the additions to the City of Waco.

Third Prize in Each District.

The lady or gentleman having the third largest number of votes in each of the three districts at the close of the contest will each be awarded a genuine diamond valued at $100.

Fourth Prize in Each District.

The lady or gentleman having the fourth largest number of votes in each of the three districts at the close of the contest will be awarded a $75.00 commercial scholarship in Waco Business Colleges.

Fifth Prize in Each District.

The lady or gentleman having the fifth largest number of votes in each of the three districts at the close of the contest will each be awarded a $50.00 diamond or lavallier.

Sixth Prize in Each District.

The lady or gentleman having the sixth largest number of votes in each of the three districts at the close of the contest will each be awarded a $25.00 solid gold watch, either lady's or gentleman's.

How to Enter Contest

Fill out the Nomination Blank in this issue and send it to The Waco Morning News Contest Department. Each contestant is entitled to one nomination ballot good for 1000 votes.

Contestants may nominate themselves or be nominated by some friend or relative.

It is not necessary to be a subscriber to The Morning News in order to enter the contest. It is free to all and costs nothing to enter and win a prize.

There are eighteen prizes in all. There are three districts and six prizes will be awarded to winners in each district.

Readers of The News who cannot participate actively in this contest should send in the name of some friend or relative whom you think would make a winning race.

The contest will close on Thursday, November 11th.

COTTON

New York, Sept. 11.—The cotton market recovered a good part of yesterday's reaction during today's early trading, but again encountered heavy realizing and prices gradually eased off, with December selling down from 10.53 to 10.45, and with the general list closing steady, net 2 points lower to 2 points higher.

Relative firm cables, reports that the firmer tone of raw material had stimulated the demand for cotton goods and yarns, and the continued firmness of southern spot markets late yesterday, probably accounted for a renewal of activity Wall Street and commission house buying at the opening. Predictions of a prominent southwestern operator that prices would eventually sell much higher, also may have encouraged scattering demand, while in some quarters there appeared a disposition to eliminate quotations of international politics from calculations as to the course of the market.

First prices were firm at an advance of 10 to 12 points and active months soon sold 13 to 14 points net higher, with October advancing to 10.25 and January to 10.77. Buying orders seemed to be pretty well supplied on this bulge, however, and the market later turned easier under week-end realizing.

October contracts sold off to 10.10 in the late trading, while reactions carried below the high level of the morning. Closing prices were a point or two up from the lowest on most positions. A crop report published before the opening made the condition on September 4, 1915, as compared with the government condition of 69.2 as of August 25.

Southern selling of October here was attributed to liquidation of hedges among paying the purchase of actual cotton in the southern states. Port receipts today 18,728 bales, season 277,439, exports 12,860, season 232,892; stock 79,461.

New Orleans, Sept. 11.—Cotton had a quiet but steady tone today. Trading was not in large volume and much of it was confined to commitments over the week-end. Realizing by longs held the market within bounds on the uptimes. In the early trading prices were 10 to 12 points over yesterday's close, but for awhile offerings were heavy and the more active months were sent down to within 1 or 2 points of yesterday's finals. The close was at a net gain of 4 to 6 points.

Cables were much better than due and stimulated the early buying. More or less nervousness was displayed over the political situation and fear of unfavorable developments over Sunday increased the desire of longs to liquidate. The weather map was considered favorable, weather being seasonable and no rain of consequence was reported in the bulge, but crop accounts continued in the bulge, but crop accounts continued in the bulge, but crop accounts continued in the bulge.

WHEAT

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Sharp upturns that wet weather caused in the wheat market today were followed by a decided reaction due to talk of imports from Canada. Prices closed heavy at the same level as last night to 1c higher, with September at 99 1/2 and December at 95 1/2. Corn finished 3/4¢ off to 3/8¢ up, oats unchanged to 1/2¢ higher and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

Waves of buying which swept over the wheat market during the first half of the session carried prices to the highest level reached in more than a fortnight. Predictions of continued storms over almost the entire domestic belt were chiefly what stimulated the rush to the bull side of the market. Additional delays to the movement of the crop appeared to be certain and to make increasingly difficult any effort to accumulate supplies in store. Higher quotations at Liverpool counted also against the bears, especially as world shipments for the week promised to show a notable falling off.

In the last half of the day rumors of tentative arrangements to bring Canadian wheat to Minneapolis acted as a wet blanket on buyers here. The relative bulge in the Canadian product was said to have tempted millers to consider carefully the outlook for bringing liberal quantities across the border. Speculative sentiment seemed thereafter to change radically and selling began the popular course. Before the close was cleared one firm alone had turned overboard 1,000,000 bushels.

Reports of exceptionally plentiful forage largely outweighed other influences in the corn market. Oats averaged higher but the range was narrow. Provisions were cleared one firm alone had turned overboard 1,000,000 bushels.

WAR A BLOW TO EPICURES.

Cuts Off Snails, Smyrna Figs and Choice Danish Cheese.

Among the side issues involved in the European war it might be well to consider the gastronomic losses experienced. To many these will appear as of secondary importance. But not to all. There are worthy individuals whose grasp on the higher principles is somewhat shaky, but who recognize with due gravity any element that interposes between them and the festive board. With them, as with the estimable lady who wanted with the war ended before September so Mary could return to school, much lies in the particular viewpoint.

As an instance, the supply of edible snails from France fell off to the zero point some time since.

Again, we have reported a shortage in Smyrna figs. A fair fig is raised at home, 'tis true. Yet there's something about a Smyrna fig, the way it is spelled, perhaps, that distinguishes the breed.

But the acid test comes in the news that Denmark has forbidden the further exportation of the Danish cheese. Only those accustomed to paying an ad valorem of 40 per cent on account of the holes know the deadening effect of this unexpected blow, this bolt from the blue, so to speak. Once more it may be asked, why the Danish cheese more than Neuchatel, roquefort, camembert, Limburger, or its other fragrant congeners? Well, it's hard to say. Isn't the fact that it is debarred enough to excite an ardent demand? When does one want anything, even a drink of cold water, half so much as when one can't get it?

Hamilton People Planning to Come

L. O. Peck, editor of the Hamilton Record, is very enthusiastic over the prospects of the Cotton Palace this fall. He believes that unusually large crowds will attend the exposition from the Hamilton country. He writes that the crops in that section are unusually fine and that the conditions generally were never more prosperous than they are at the present time. The people of Hamilton have always been great friends of the Cotton Palace, and the people of Waco are delighted to learn that they expect to be on hand again this year in larger numbers than ever before.

War Can Be Made a Boon to Cotton Men, Says Col. Thompson

GROWERS HAVE A CHANCE TO PLACE MARKETING OF CROP ON REAL BUSINESS BASIS AT LAST, SAYS VETERAN BUSINESS MAN AND COTTON SPECIALIST.

"The war should save the cotton growing states; there is at least an opportunity so to arrange that the grower may, in spite of himself, make money."

"If the present situation is taken advantage of and the agitators and politicians suppressed, the south can be put firmly on its feet. The greatest danger to the south is not the British blockade, but the plan to have the entire crop bought by England. If the main issues are lost sight of and England is induced to buy, then the south might as well give up the production of cotton for England will control the market for the next twenty years."

These are the views of Col. Robert M. Thompson. They were expressed in the course of a conversation in which he discussed cotton production and the world markets. "It is always difficult to get a sane view of cotton from a grower or small dealer in the south, because these men do not look an inch beyond their noses," he said. "The south is continually in hot water about cotton and the feeling is general and deep-rooted that somebody or other is at the bottom of a conspiracy to ruin the cotton grower. Usually the brokers and speculators are blamed for low prices, but today the mantle has been shifted to England and we hear a great deal about the English blockade killing the south."

"This capacity for finding a 'goat' for low cotton prices is wonderfully developed. It is increased by the small politicians in big and little offices, who say whatever they imagine the people like to hear. The few men who grasp the real situation can hardly make themselves heard in the clamor and when they are heard their words are unheeded because they are unpleasant to the ear. The southerner does not care to be told that he does not make money out of cotton simply because he does not use brains."

"Yet the whole trouble with cotton is that no brains are used in its marketing. If steel or oil were handled as cotton is handled the great steel and oil producers would be bankrupt instead of making millions."

"When the grower harvests his crop he rushes to sell, and if the world does not happen to want his cotton at his not happening to want the world instead of taking steps to make the world buy at a higher price."

"Cotton is used throughout all the year but it is sold by the producer within three months; it is simply dumped on the market whether or not the market is hungry. If the market positively refuses to buy, then the grower, a little defiantly, says, 'Take my cotton or I will starve.' The United States has become accustomed to distress in the south and there is a distinct feeling among all business men that cotton growers ought to be self-supporting and not continually offering their bales as a blind beggar offers lead pencils on the street corners."

"There is no reason why this intrinsically valuable product should not be profitable to the grower; the whole question is a mere matter of adapting the supply to the demand. The grower refuses to believe so, and therefore his agriculture becomes a species of gambling. Within twenty years cotton has been below 5 cents a pound and above 20 cents; that is, in some years, a crop may be worth four times as much as in other years. Such fluctuations in a staple are unthinkable; they are due solely to the headless dumping of cotton on the market, regardless of economic conditions."

"The reason for this violation of all the principles of salesmanship are not hard to find. The government taught the planters to grow cotton, but it has not been able to teach them how to market it. The farmers know only one end of the business; once they harvest, their work is done; they take whatever is offered for the fruit of their labors."

"The helpless position of the grower after harvest is a serious matter; from cotton comes more than a half of the income of South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas. The citizens of these and the other cotton states do not know from season to season whether $1 or $4 is going to be the unit of their income."

"Under the present conditions the average farmer must sell at once, regardless of the market, because his only asset is a few bales of cotton. Before the civil war the cotton grower was a big planter, fully able to take care of himself from season to season. Today the cotton grower is a son."

small holder or tenant. The average plantation in Georgia in 1860 had 483 acres; the average today is only 77 acres. The average production per grower is only eight and a half bales and many farmers raise only three or four bales.

"These little men are always in debt; they run into debt for hog and mule and year after year, they stake their all on a good crop of cotton, selling at a good price. The ripe cotton belongs to pressing creditors. First comes the landlord, then the man from whom the mule was hired, and finally the storekeeper."

"The cotton must be sold to pay creditors, and it would almost seem that it is sold to the lowest bidder. More than 5 per cent turns over with in ninety days from the beginning of harvest. With the offerings coming on all at once and the sellers anxious for money, it stands to reason that the seller is at the mercy of the market."

"If these growers would take counsel and plant other crops in addition to cotton they would not owe the storekeeper so much money at the end of the year, and they would not stand in the warnings of the storekeeper. For instance, buys about $50,000,000 worth of grain from the western states."

"A restriction of the cotton acreage has been discussed for several years, but there is no national or state act which can be passed to compel reduction. The education of the growers in this respect is not proceeding with any remarkable speed in spite of the warnings of nearly all the newspapers and weeklies of the south."

"The grower will not grasp the thought that he can get a higher price for a smaller amount of cotton. South Carolina is turning to other lines, but most of the other states would rather whine than meet the situation."

"If the price happens to be high in a given year the grower reasons: 'I raise more cotton next year I will make more money.' He plants a big crop and when harvest comes around the country is flooded with cotton and the price goes down."

"It is just this sentiment which has brought about the critical position of the cotton world. Prices ruled fairly high in 1911, 1912 and 1913, and the enormous crop of last year, 16,134,930 bales—which was far beyond the needs of the world—made the world can consume only a certain amount of cotton and when it buys beyond its needs it buys at very low prices."

"This crop was a national calamity; just as it was harvesting the war broke out and the financial world turned upside down. The cotton exchanges closed, bankers became panic-stricken and called loans, business men refused to buy and cotton was worth exactly what you could get for it. The south could not hold its cotton for better times, it threw it on the market at any price—5 cents or 6 cents or anything that was offered; the year finished with a surplus of four million bales."

"The growers this year paid some slight heed to the warnings and cut about 15 per cent from the total acreage, but they cut their worst land and few planted another crop in the vacant spaces. The 1915 crop will probably run between eleven and twelve million bales and with the surplus from last year, is again beyond the need of the civilized world, unless the war demands more cotton for explosives than now seems possible."

"In any event, the crop can be forced down to price, and it is the grower and not the dealer who will lose the money. The price crash of last year fell hardest on the grower; the man who bought and held made money. In spite of the war and the British blockade cotton has been going abroad in nearly the same quantities as usual."

"The present outcry against the British blockade in so far as it concerns cotton is premature. The cotton men have not suffered in any great measure because of the war. They have suffered because they would not meet the emergency conditions in the trade world when war was declared."

"As usual it was the poor grower who was hit. And war or no war, with the present selling methods he was bound to suffer because he could not sell to his customers' credit."

"The export figures for the year ended May 31, 1915, are illuminating. Cotton depends on export; 65 per cent of the crop in normal times goes overseas. Great Britain takes about four million bales, France slightly over a million, Germany and Austria together about three million, Belgium about two hundred thousand and other countries consume a million bales."

"England closed the German and Austrian markets; Germany destroyed the Belgian industry and captured the quarter of France which contained most of the cotton spindles. But in spite of these strictures the exports from the United States fell off less than eight hundred thousand bales because England took three hundred thousand more bales than usual and Germany secured approximately 75 per cent of her normal supply through Italy, Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden. Italy jumped from less than five hundred thousand bales to more than a million and the countries adjacent to Germany took a million and a quarter bales instead of the hundred thousand they had been taking. Most of this increase went to Germany."

"These figures show conclusively that the south's troubles are not entirely caused by the war, except as it restricts manufacturing, because an export decrease of half a million bales is not enough to unbalance the country. The cotton which England has seized on the sea has been bought and paid for at good prices, while the destruction by German submarines has been only fifty thousand bales."

"The financial straits of the southern planters are due to the unbusiness-like way in which their cotton comes to the market. The agitation which seeks to place the blame on the blockade is partly due to pro-German influence and partly due to the desire of the south always to dodge the real issue. Germany sorely needs cotton for industry; the government has commandeered all the private stocks for army uses."

"Cotton has come to a unique position in warfare. In the civil war the north was interested in preventing cotton from leaving the Confederate states because cotton exports meant money for war purposes. Of itself it had no military value. Today the high explosives all have cotton bases. A pound of gun cotton takes a pound of raw cotton. Cordite, the high explosive, is 27 per cent cotton. It has been estimated that a three-inch gun fires about two pounds of cotton in every charge; a fifteen-inch gun uses about five hundred pounds, or a whole bale.

"No substitute has been found for cotton in explosives and therefore England, come what may, must bar cotton from Germany."

"This means that a market of about two million bales will be withdrawn. Since Italy entered the war cotton cannot reach Germany except through making fifteen or sixteen million bales in sight for the year. A large surplus, with no takers except at starvation figures, is inevitable."

"The only hope for direct sale is that the manufacture of explosives and war accoutrements, the increase in American manufactures and an added taking by Japan for the east will approach the loss of other foreign markets. There is a slight possibility that these factors may considerably relieve the situation. In any event the new kind of war is helping the south to a very great degree."

"A crisis is at hand; the pressure has not yet been felt, but it will be felt when the present crop comes sweeping into the market unless some sensible steps are taken to prevent wholesale sacrifices."

"Two instant suggestions for relief have been recently made with much more noise than reason. The overpowering desire of the south to sell is capital for the agitators."

"The first suggestion is directed at England; it is asserted that an embargo on arms and other exports to England should be declared unless the cotton blockade is lifted. This plan is manifestly of Teutonic origin and is only another phase of the arms embargo propaganda."

"The second proposal which is being considered with some seriousness is to have England take two and a half million bales at a price slightly over the cost of production. This suggestion is received with favor in the south because it falls in line with the general theory of having some one buy cotton at once."

"If I were in England's boots, I would instantly snap up the bargain. It would take a hundred million dollars, but England would make far more than that on the investment. With such a stock of cotton, England could dictate prices for twenty years. The south would sell at the prices which England fixed."

"Neither of these plans has business sense; cotton needs business sense. It needs some of the skill that has been applied to oil. We get cheap oil, yet the oil companies make millions because they know how to sell."

"I have a plan which I think would end the cotton troubles for all time and make the south a prosperous stable state. It is a plan which commands itself to the business men and bankers of the cotton states and which, if now applied, should find the growers in a receptive mood."

"I have shown that the whole trouble with cotton is that it is grown and sold without regard to the demand. There is need for a stabilizer. The best stabilizer would be a great company with a capital of at least $50,000,000."

"I should organize this company with all of the cotton growing states as stockholders and have also growers and general investors interested in order that the advantages of private business methods might be had. This company would possess itself of information as to the needs of the world in the year to come and then regulate the acreage so that the yield and the demand would fairly match. The regulations could be easily enforced by refusing to deal with such growers as rebelled."

"When the cotton crop came on this company would receive it, make a cash advance to the farmer, ship each month the amount required for the world's consumption and store the balance. By proper bargaining with the consumers, fair prices could be arranged for the year's consumption. Great economies could be introduced in ginning, compressing, storing and shipping the cotton."

"The enormous expenses of the cotton exchanges could be eliminated and the southern planter could be paid an average of $10 a bale more than he will get under the present method. This would mean $150,000,000 more yearly to the south, without any large additional expense to the ultimate consumer."

"The earnings of the company from its commissions for marketing the crop would make a profitable investment to the stockholders, without being any burden to the farmer."

"The banks instead of having to deal with a multitude of small borrowers would advance only to a large and wealthy concern, so that there would be no difficulty in borrowing any sum that would be wanted. No collateral that the south requires, but credit."

"By having an absolute control of the product, the necessity for future contracts and the consequent speculation of the cotton exchanges would be eliminated. The cotton would pass out of existence because the producer and the ultimate consumer had met."

"The present conditions can be taken advantage of to inaugurate a mutual company—the California Fruit Growers have saved themselves by a similar plan—and the war can be made an instrument of greatest benefit to the south."

TEACHERS ASSIGNED FOR WACO SCHOOLS

SUPT. B. B. COBB ADDRESSES A LETTER OF INFORMATION TO PATRONS AND PUPILS.

ENROLLMENT THURSDAY SEPT. 16

Lines Separating Various Districts
Same as Last Year—Tuition to Be Collected in Advance.

Information as to the opening of the Waco public schools and the list of assignments of teachers was given out yesterday by Prof. B. B. Cobb, superintendent. His letter, addressed to the patrons and pupils of the schools, and the list of teachers, are as follows:

Thursday, September 16, has been set aside for enrollment and classification. Actual work will begin on Monday, September 20. All pupils expecting to attend the public schools should assemble at their respective buildings on Thursday at 9 a. m.

Those regularly promoted will be given their book lists and dismissed at 10 o'clock. All others should remain after 10 o'clock for final classification.

Examinations for entrance to the Waco schools, to remove conditions, or obtain advanced standing will be conducted at the following hours: English, 10 to 11 o'clock; mathematics, 11 to 12 o'clock; other subjects, after 1:30 p. m. High school examinations will be given as follows: Thursday, 10 a. m., English; 1:30 p. m., Latin and German; Friday, 10 a. m., mathematics; 1:30 p. m., history and science.

It is of the greatest importance that every pupil who can possibly do so, should enroll on Thursday. The entire day will be given over to this work. Teachers and principals will be at the buildings prepared to conduct examinations and to assist in classification. Thursday is the only day of the week for this work and it will be best for all concerned if enrollment is finished on that day.

Regular classes will begin on Monday, the 20th, and continue for the full number of hours. It will make a very material difference, therefore, if a pupil fails to be enrolled and classified on the 16th.

Prompt enrollment will enable pupils to get books and supplies with the least inconvenience, and it will enable us to start the school work without the loss of a single day.

It costs over a thousand dollars a day to maintain the schools of Waco and there is no real reason for consuming two or three days in getting started. There will be no loss, if all pupils are enrolled with the regular class.

The necessity of early enrollment applies to all pupils and especially to those entering the B first grade. If they are not enrolled during the first two weeks they must wait until the end of the term; if they lose only a few days they run the risk of being unable to do the work with the regular class.

Lines separating the various districts in the city are the same as last year. Children below high school must attend the school in the district in which they live, unless regularly transferred. Transfers are made only where there is urgent necessity, such as providing relief for a crowded room. The two grammar schools will accommodate the same grades as last year.

Attention of tuition pupils is called to the fact that, this year, the Waco school board will require the payment of tuition monthly in advance.

Practically no changes will be made in text books and course of study and the general regulation governing in former years will again be in force.

A meeting of all principals of the white schools will be held on Monday at 10 a. m. at the high school.

Institute for all teachers will begin on Tuesday, September 14, and continue through the 14th, 15th and 17th, from 9 to 4 o'clock at the high school. All the Dancy, Miss Annie Forsgard, Miss Belle Edmond, Miss Louise Gayles, Miss Jennie Hylton, Miss Marie Leslie. Miss meetings are open to the public.

In conclusion, I earnestly ask every patron sympathetic co-operation of every patron and every other friend of education in Waco in the work of the coming year. We shall The schools need your help. We shall direct towards their continued progress. To this end we ask your help. W. D. Blair, Misses Irene Ellodge, Esther Cammack and Genevieve Johnson were recently elected to the W. S. cause by the resignations of W. S. Brendenberger, Misses Maydee Caulfield, Alma Sullenberger and Ruth Ray.

United Style Show Planned for Leading Stores of Waco

Details of a united style show and fall opening to be participated in by all merchants of the city will be discussed at a meeting of merchants of the city called for the Y. M. B. L. rooms tomorrow night. Whatever plans which may be developed from the meeting tomorrow night will be laid before the meeting of the Y. M. B. L. Tuesday night. The general plan of having the Y. M. B. L. get behind the style show project was discussed at the meeting of the directors Friday night, when the plan was recommended to the incoming administration which will be elected Tuesday night.

The plan for the style show which will be presented to the meeting of the merchants tomorrow night contemplates extension of the show to cover a week, obtaining special railroad rates which will be possible if the show is made a community affair, and extensive advertising in various rural newspapers as well as the home papers.

Every merchant of every line is urged to be present at the meeting tomorrow night, at which details of the plan which has been discussed by leaders for some time, and which develops to a more thorough state the plans of a number of merchants who held a joint style show in the spring. It will be thoroughly gone into. Following the meeting, whatever may have been selected as good by the merchants will be placed before the Y. M. B. L. directors with the request that they take charge of the general features of the show.

The tentative plan which has been proposed contemplates having the Y. M. B. L. to take charge of the first night of the show. At a given hour, say 7 o'clock, it is planned to have all show windows unveiled at the signal which will probably be given from the Y. M. B. L. siren whistle. All have been previously prepared, ready for the unveiling of the windows. The stores will not be open on Monday night, only the unveiling of the windows being the only feature of the first day of the show. Beginning Tuesday morning the fashion displays in all the stores will continue throughout the week. Each store will have charge of its individual features, but the general features of the show, and general publicity will be in charge of a joint committee, the constitution of which will be one of the important matters to be discussed at the meeting tomorrow night.

It is the idea of those favoring the move to make the event one of community co-operation, uniting all the business interests of the city in the effort to build up Waco's trade territory and increase the patronage of all. Special features which will be arranged to attract the visitors to the city during the style show will consist of some manner of free entertainment, street exhibitions, and the Young Men's Business League may be depended upon to arrange something original for the first night of the show, when the entire program will be in charge of that organization.

GIBBONS OUTPOINTS PACKY McFARLAND

LARGEST CROWD THAT EVER SAW BOXING MATCH IN U. S.
IS PRESENT.

HARD FOUGHT FROM START

Packy Shows That His Long Absence from Ring Caused Him to Lose Snap from Blows.

Ringside, Brighton Beach, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a boxing match in this country, Mike Gibbons of Chicago in a ten-round, no-decision contest here tonight, the bout, which brought together two of the cleverest boxers in the ring today, but Gibbons scored the more frequent and more effective blows.

McFarland showed that his long absence from the ring had dulled his speed and power to snap punches to vulnerable points of his opponent's head and body. Gibbons appeared nervous when he entered the ring and was not as finely conditioned as his opponent.

The St. Paul phenomenon immediately took the aggressive and showed that he intended to make a fight of it instead of a sparring exhibition. There was power behind almost every blow he landed and he found difficulty in beating the stock yards boxer to the punch. For the first four rounds Gibbons was always in the lead, playing alternately for the head and body.

In the fifth McFarland took the aggressive and being thoroughly warmed up, fought desperately to stem the tide of defeat. Gibbons made a strong play for Gibbons' body, but the latter covered so well that few of the blows reached their objective. Packy cut loose in the seventh and landed a shower of blows. Gibbons' race, one of which split the St. Paul boxer's left eyebrow.

McFarland tried to outlast his opponent in this period, but although the latter was beginning to waken he staggered Packy with several blows to the head and still maintained his lead. Gibbons came up with a smile in the eighth and fought, with his old-time confidence. He cut down his opponent in the final round, being strong at the finish and master of his opponent. The long lead that Gibbons gained in the earlier rounds, however, was too great to be overcome and the consensus of opinion was strongly in favor of the St. Paul boxer as the winner on points of the largest purse ever offered for so short and a decisionless bout.

A throng which was estimated at 45,000 witnessed the contest, almost entirely filling the immense arena which originally inclosed a third-of-a-mile motorcycle track. More than two hours before the principals entered the ring, lines of spectators extended for blocks away from the entrances and roads leading to the arena were blocked with double lines of motor cars. From the ringside nothing could be seen but a sea of faces which grew dimmer as they faded into innumerable ranks of white blotches in the very edge of the enclosure. Several thousand women were scattered among the spectators, which included a large number of boxing enthusiasts from as far west as Chicago and Cleveland, and below Washington into the south.

Gibbons was the favorite in the wagering at odds ranging from 8 to 5 to 2 to 1, and while no large sums were staked there were hundreds of small bets, so great was the interest in and difference of opinion regarding the outcome of the bout. A cluster of bright, clear light over the ring and permitted the taking of moving pictures.

The official announcer introduced an innovation when he fired several shots from a pistol in order to silence the vast throng before attempting to make announcements regarding the weights and conditions of the bout.

A purse of $32,500 was divided $17,500 to McFarland and $15,000 to Gibbons, neither of whom were damaged to any great extent or in serious danger of a knock-out during the ten-round engagement.

Baylor Football Training Camp Is to Open Tomorrow

Baylor University's football training camp will open tomorrow on Carroll field. The two coaches of the line and backfield, Moseley and Bales, have been in Waco a few days and report that everything is ready for the first work-out. The bath house is complete and the furniture was being installed yesterday in the athletic offices. The field, which has been freshly mowed and cleaned, is covered with a fine heavy Bermuda turf, due to the recent rains, and will show up fine when marked off. Several of the last year's squad already have arrived and more are expected on today's trains, as well as quite a number of new men who are beginning to come in for the extra week of training. From the letters that have been received and the enthusiasm manifested in the largest for several years, and that the boys are anxious to take advantage of the new equipment.

Mrs. Vanderbeck Wins Golf Title

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia, eastern golf champion, today won the championship of America at Onwentsley by defeating Mrs. W. A. Gavin of England 3 and 2.

The contest for the title today was not as strenuous as the semi-final round ten feet from the flag on the 135-yard sixteenth, the last hole played, while Mrs. Gavin was only 20 yards short. The American barely missed a two and the hole was holed in 3, the 10th par of the sixteen holes. Mrs. Vanderbeck was champion 3 up and 2 to play.

EXCITING GAME GOES TO BOSTON RED SOX

TENSE SITUATIONS HOLD BIG TENS ESITUATIONS HOLD BIG CROWD BREATHLESS FOR 11 INNINGS.

Frequent Altercations Over Decisions and Horn-Blowing Add to the Hubbub.

Boston, Sept. 11.—The Chicago White Sox and the Boston Red Sox went eleven innings of tense situations, startling plays and timely hitting to a Boston victory, 5 to 4. Boston had tied Chicago's third run lead by a ninth-inning rally and a spectacular clean-up hit by Hendriksen, sent in as a pinch hitter.

The White Sox batters hit heavily in the third innings, four hits, including Murphy's double and Fournier's triple, counting three runs. After this inning, Umpire O'Loughlin put Boston's battery, Foster and Cady, off the field for objecting to decisions. The Red Sox gained a run in the fourth on Speaker's triple and Lewis' hit, and Chicago added one in the seventh on two singles off Mays, who had succeeded Foster, and on J. Collins' steal.

Russell had held Boston to four hits when the ninth inning opened. Speaker started up with a double. Gardner singled, Lewis grounded out, Barry singled, Carrigan grounded out, and Hendriksen, pinch hitting, got a hit for the last of the three runs needed to tie the game.

For the extra innings Carrigan called on Leonard to pitch and he fanned four of the six Chicago batters. Then he pinch hit for Leonard, and passed Jim Scott succeeded in retiring the side, only to go wild himself in the eleven when after Barry's hit with one out, Scott passed Carrigan and Leonard.

Wolfgang was then charged with Chicago's pitching burden, one out and the bases full. It was Hohlitzel, who had succeeded Gainer at first base, when he cracked out a hit to right field, sending Barry home with the deciding run.

The game was marked by frequent altercations over decisions and by a din of horn-blowing and shouting from grand stand and bleachers never equalled in this city except in a world's series contest.

SAXON ROADSTER $395

"Absolutely the finest two-passenger car at anywhere near the price"—that's the verdict of Saxon owners everywhere on their Saxon Roadsters.

From all over the country come such statements as these:

"The Saxon Roadster is certainly a wonderful car. We prefer to ride in it rather than in large cars."
E. A. Morris, New York.

"My Saxon is most satisfactory. Its simplicity and size make it especially convenient for a woman to handle."
Clara A. Rookus, Detroit.

"The more I drive the Saxon the better I like it. Last week I made a 380-mile trip with it at an actual expense of $1.95."
H. C. Schultz, Concordia, Kan.

"I have driven the car for thousands of miles and have yet to see the hill it would not take on high."
C. B. Adams, Monroe, N. C.

"It is a perfect charm, smooth running and an easy rider. Greatest small car I ever sat in."
J. F. Jarrard, Greensburg, Ind.

Why not experience the joys of motoring at minimum cost? half a cent per mile—just as 20,000 other Saxons are doing? Arrange for your Saxon ride today.

Gym Classes at the Y. M. C. A. Are to Start Tomorrow

On Monday the regular gymnasium class work will begin at the Y. M. C. A. The gymnasium has undergone some repairs and without doubt the season will be the best in the history of the institution. Physical Director E. W. Conway has had five years experience in the handling of classes on the floor and can adapt the work to suit all classes and types of men.

The following classes meet on Monday:
1:15 to 2:00—Older business men.

Annual Institute for Waco Teachers Comes This Week

The annual institute for teachers in the city schools will be held this week, beginning Tuesday. General sessions of the institute will be held in the high school auditorium. For discussion of various phases of the work, the institute will be divided into sections composed of teachers of the same grades. Four section meetings will be held each day. President W. E. Darden of the city school board will be one of the speakers on the opening day of the institute, next Tuesday. Superintendent B. B. Cobb, who begins his first year at the head of the city schools will talk on "Some of the Year's Aims." Dr. J. R. Ferrell, school physician, will speak on "Medical Inspection in the Schools."

Programs for the sessions of the institute have been mailed to all teachers who will be employed in the schools of the city during the present year. Besides a list of dates and hours for the different section meetings of the institute, the programs also show the dates for primary observation work at the Sanger Avenue school for teachers in the primary grades of the ward schools of the city, and also a list of the days on which music, drawing and writing will be taught in the schools this year.

Protest Against Shreveport Rate Being Considered

The protest of the Waco Young Men's Business League and the Chamber of Commerce against putting into effect the supplemental order in the Shreveport rate case which would raise railroad rates on classification, effective September 15, is receiving the attention of the interstate commerce commission, according to a letter received yesterday from Albert Holmead, acting secretary of the commission. By C. W. Payne, chairman of the Galveston conference of Texas shippers which first protested the action of the interstate commission.

THE INFORMATION CONTAINED IN THE LETTER IS THE MOST ENCOURAGING SINCE THE PROTESTS FIRST BEGAN AGAINST PUTTING INTO EFFECT THE PART OF THE ORDER WHICH APPLIES TO CLASSIFICATIONS, SAID MR. PAYNE YESTERDAY. HE IS HOPEFUL THAT THE TIME FOR GOING INTO EFFECT OF THE ORDER WILL BE EXTENDED, AS WAS ASKED BY THE SHIPPERS.

Mrs. M. R. Chambers Celebrates 88th Birthday Anniversary

Mrs. M. R. Chambers, 1219 Vermont street, celebrated her 88th birthday yesterday, being in unusually good health and talking cheerfully with the many friends who remembered the event. Mrs. Chambers has resided in Waco for thirty-eight years, and talks interestingly about things that happened in Waco almost forty years ago. She has five living children, three grandchildren and thirty-four great-grandchildren. The children are S. W. and A. G. Chambers, Mrs. E. F. Towler and Mrs. Henrietta Hooper of Waco and Mrs. G. M. McGinty of Astell.

Day of Atonement Will Be Observed Last of This Week

Beginning next Friday evening at 6 o'clock one of the holiest days of the Jewish church will be observed. The day lasts until sunset Saturday and is set aside as the Day of Atonement and reviewing of the moral and spiritual growth of the individual during the year passed. While the ritual of the day is congregational and is public, the nature of the service and worship is personal. The initial service will be Friday evening and the entire day of Saturday will be devoted to the Holy Day. This day gives an opportunity for retrospection and introspection and a complete review of their growth morally, spiritually and physically during the year, as well as a day for the forecasting of broader service for the coming year. It is to the Jews what the New Year's is to the Christians—a day to take stock of the personality and individuality of each and for the beginning and planning for the year's service. Another phase of the day is the thought for the dead and of the void that has come into his own life through the death of the close friends and those who are related. All of the eminent world influence and of the great reformers, are honored during this day by contemplation of their deeds. Special services will be held at both Temple Rodef Shalom and the synagogue of the Congregation Agudath Jacob.
